

Delaware Deer in the News Archive

Articles are in alphabetical order. Related articles may be grouped. Some links to the original article may no longer be active, but the link will go to the original source where the full article may be found by searching that website. A snippet of information is saved here from copyrighted articles.

What to do if you find baby animals this spring in Delaware March 30, 2024 Delaware Online

... baby deer ... "If they're covered in flies, if they've got wounds, if they're crying and getting up and trying to follow you, then they're in trouble." If you notice these signs, call a wildlife rehabilitator immediately...

Brandywine Zoo welcomes its newest addition, a baby southern pudu August 4, 2023 Delaware, 6abc News

... Southern pudu are the second smallest deer in the world ... a significant contribution to the North American pudu population, as it is slowly declining...

Delaware zoo's pudu Haechan, named by fans of NCT-127, has died. June 28, 2022 WHYY

... The small deer was born at the LA facility in 2018 and gained international attention after fans of the Korean pop music group NCT-127 won a Facebook fundraiser to sponsor the tiny deer...

Man looking into license to keep pet deer that's house trained April 12, 2021 Delaware, Yahoo News

... will "sleep on the couch, wake up and tap on the door when she's ready to leave" ... the Delaware Department of Natural Resources who let him know that allowing deer into the house is illegal possession of wildlife ...

Deer Rescued From Well In Wilmington, Delaware August 19, 2018 Delaware, CBS Philly

... A deer is safe thanks to an alert resident walking his dog in Wilmington, Delaware...Youtube Video

Keeping a deer as a pet illegal in Delaware July 23, 2018 Delaware, 6abc Action News
... Wildlife police rescued a white tail fawn from an apartment near Wilmington ...
individual was fined $107 ...

DNREC advises on newborn fawns: What you need to know – and what you should and should not do if you 'find' them May 24, 2017 Delaware, news.delaware.gov
... . “Even if a fawn appears to be alone, the mother is likely close by. Newborn fawns need to feed every few hours so the doe is never far away. Young fawns are left alone for extended periods of time by their mothers as a survival mechanism ...

Alphabetical Order

Deer rescued after falling through ice on lake January 30, 2013 Delaware The News Journal
A deer that had fallen through the ice on Haven Lake near Milford ... Fish & Wildlife officers broke the ice to help the doe to shore, where she rested for several hours before heading back into the wild.

Delaware's Division of Wildlife Celebrates A Century Of Conservation January 2, 2012 AmmoLand.com
... applied science continues to be the basis by which the Division manages wildlife populations. From estimating deer densities in order to maintain their populations within ecological and social carrying capacities ... As Delaware's expanding human population and its needs put increasingly more pressure on wildlife and the habitat it depends on, the need to continue making wildlife management decisions based on science will become increasingly more important.

In Delaware The Buck Stops at the Inner Wall October 21, 2014
delaware-surf-fishing.com

... I know deer swim the waters here all of the time, and have heard of them making it to the wall, but never saw one out there ... Deer swim all of the time to get to small islands such as Pea Patch island up north, and the other side of the inland bays...

What to do and not do with 'abandoned' fawns June 10, 2013 Delaware, Cape Gazette

... “So even if a fawn appears to be alone, the mother is likely bedded close by. Newborn fawns need to feed every few hours so the doe never strays far,” Rogerson said. “Fawns don’t become active enough to start traveling with their mothers until they are about two months old, so the survival instinct of a newborn fawn is to stay very still and hide from predators.” ...

White deer, once the stuff of legends, is gone January 15, 2012 Delaware, The News Journal

There used to be a white deer in a field across Snuff Mill Road in Centreville, but somebody shot her... Trucks and family cars often parked on our street to wait for a chance to see her....