

NKCES Digital Learning Design Lab Back-Channel #2

September 8, 2020

Person Asking Question or Making a Statement	Question or Statement	Person Answering Question or Statement	Answer to Question or Statement
Misti	Where can I find trainings offered by NKCES?	Laura Clarke	www.nkces.org
Stefanie	We have been implementing those home visits as well. Some of our elementary schools are also doing a lot of small group orientations of using the chromes, especially those in K and 1!	Misti Carr	Our home visits have been very effective!
Amelia	 Ignite is planning some small group orientations also (for freshman).
Stefanie	Love this idea of failing forward for even the adults!	Misti Carr Monica Wainscott	YES! I need to make myself a sign and post in my office! We talk about this a LOT...it's not about the failure, but what we do after. How did we learn from it? We are CELEBRATING failure and taking the stigma off failing.
Amelia	Really Appreciate your last point Ben...student advocacy needs to be TAUGHT. Building a culture where it is okay to ask questions, ask for help, share what you know/need, etc.	Ben Lusk	That is one of the hallmarks of an effective team, that ability to be 'vulnerable'. It's hard for kids who see adults as the source of information
Liz	I'm trying to get them to let me know when I've made a mistake. Ex. Doc won't open.
Stefanie	The communication piece at	Misti Carr	I agree - I know other

[illegible]