

I am happy to say that I have done this method and it took me all of 40 minutes to hit pay dirt.

I do have proof that I was able to make money with this method and lighting quick.

What you will need:

CPA Networks:

Ogads - Sign up page here (instant acceptance)

Cpagrip – Sign up page here (instant acceptance)

Adworkmedia-Sign up page here (instant acceptance)

I used OgAds(proof bellow). You just need a content locker really. Cpagrip and Adworkmedia are two others that you can use.

Amazon Associates - This isnt needed but it will get you extra money.

Landing Page - I use builderall because its cheap and has an all in one solution for me.

Twitter profile - You need to set up a "deals" account that tweets out amazon deals.

Reddit account - for traffic. I would get a ton of these

Facebook account - same as reddit, get a shit ton

First you are going to need to pick a niche. Something people are passionate about that always works best. Tv shows, movies, wrestling, sports, music etc.

Once you have a niche, you are going to want to get on facebook and join as many facebook groups as you can that wont get your accounts banned. This takes the longest time because it takes awhile to get accepted into all the groups.

Next you are going to want to set up the landing pages. I used a template for Amazon Coupons in the builderall templates. I'm sure click funnels has something similar. If not, you are just going to set it up like you are going to be giving away an item from amazon free with the code.

Next you are going to want to set up the content locker. I had it set up that when you clicked the button on the landing page, it sent you to the content locker.

Next you will need to set up a second page that is a "out of stock" landing page. This isnt necessary if you are going totally blackhat. I think your conversions will suffer and you wont be able to cash in on the amazon affiliate money. Once they fill out the survey, the content locker will rediect them to this second page to tell them "sorry, coupon code are out of stock" and will tell them you can get it from amazon still by clicking here and then you put your link to the amazon product.

once all that is set up youll want to set up a "Deals" twitter account. You will want this to be a general account so you can use it for a bunch of different niches. you will make a post to the effect of:

"Gamers get your Harry Potter: Hogwarts Battle Board game Free for the next week.

Go Here: [your landing page here]...

#harrypotterforever #harrypotterwizardsunite
#harrypotter #boardgames"

Now you can use this twitter account as a soft landing page to get by spam filters and mods in reddit and facebook groups.

By now you should have a bunch of facebook groups that have been approved and you can go to town. There is a certain way that is more effective for posting:

Find an item and find a way to make a harmless post. I found a game on amazon in the niche and asked the group if anyone had played it before. I uploaded pics that looked like i actually physically had the game. you can get pics like this by doing an image search on the product + review. I also said I got the game for free online.

Heres an example of what i would post:

"Has anyone played the Hogwarts Battle Board/card game?

I got it for free online and I am rallying the family to play. ♂♀"

This will work for both reddit and facebook groups. It will get past the reddit spam filters because there isnt an actual link. It will get approved by mods for the exact same reason. after it gets approved you are going to want to respond to everyones comments asap. This will help it reach more people in the group or subreddit. after you get 3 to 5 comments responded to, youll want to leave a comment like:

"oh, if anyone was wondering where i got this from, I got it from here : [twitter post link with the first landing page in it]

any time anyone asks where you got it from refer them to the link. do you best to bring it around to where you got it from and give them the link. be careful doing this part on reddit though.

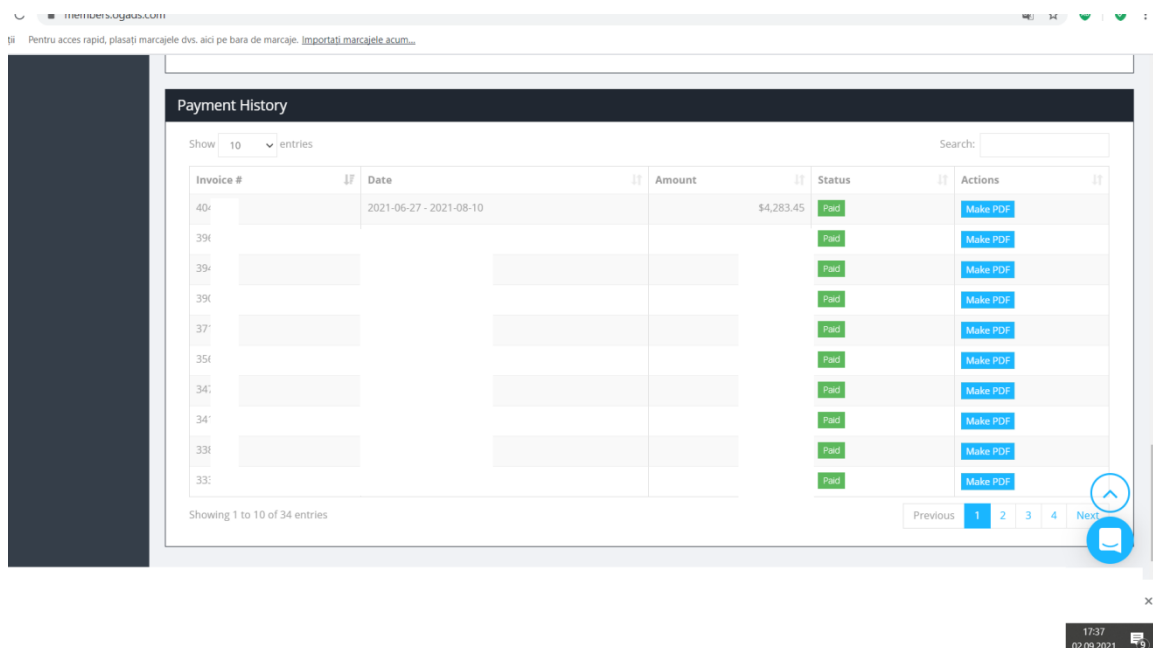

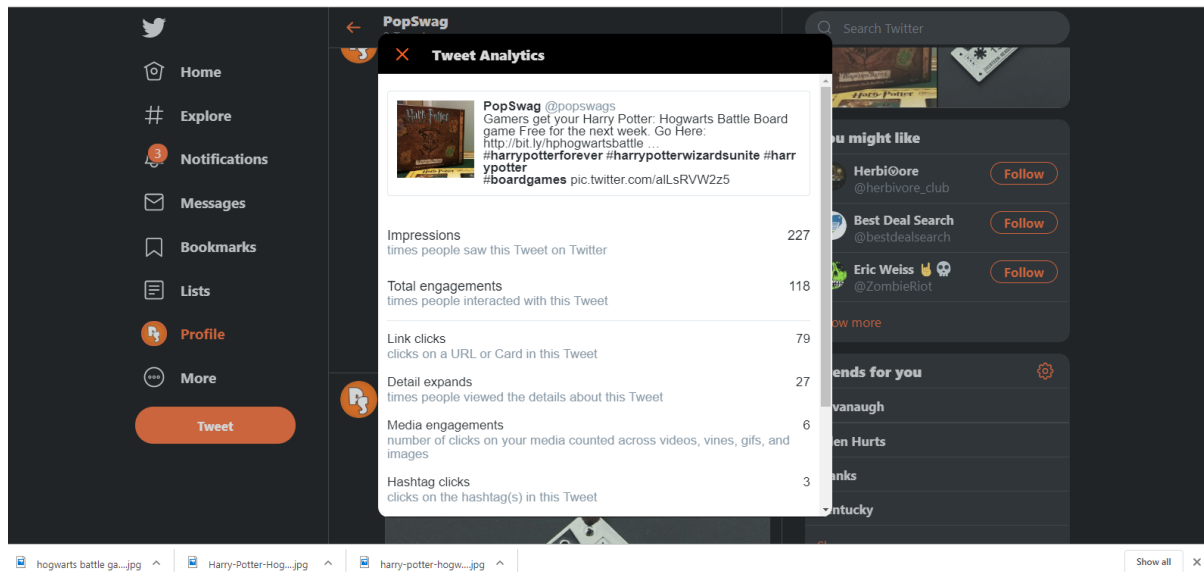

Now that you have all of this set up, you are going to want to do this in as many groups as you possibly can as well as subreddits. set up as many accounts as you can and branch out into as many niches and you can think of. there are hundreds of niches you can make this work in and with tons of accounts this can make some serious cash.

The only real problem with this is that its really not passive and you really cannot outsource this. This is a full on hustle.

PROOF:

I was able to get a conversion within the first 40 minutes of setting this up. I only posted to one facebook group and one subreddit. I am quite sure if you try it out on a shit ton of groups and subreddits with tons of accounts as well as different niches, you could make a decent amount of money.

You can make around 40-180 dollars per day if you take action,so whats stopping you?