

Privacy Policy

1. Information We Collect

To provide necessary functionality, the bot actively collects and stores the following operational data:

- Discord User IDs
- Discord Server (Guild) IDs
- Channel IDs
- Message content (only when explicitly executing bot commands, subject to Discord's Message Content Intent rules)

2. How We Use Information

All collected information is used strictly and exclusively for providing and maintaining the bot's core features (e.g., economy systems, leveling, moderation logging, and configuration).

We do NOT sell, rent, or distribute your data to any third parties under any circumstances.

3. Media and Images

Any external images, media, or content processed or displayed by the bot in response to user commands are NOT owned by us. We do not store or claim copyright over third-party images retrieved from external APIs or provided by users.

4. Security and Liability

While we take reasonable measures to protect the data stored by the bot, no system is entirely secure. By using this bot, you acknowledge that we cannot guarantee absolute security of your data. The bot developers shall not be held liable for any unauthorized access, data breaches, or data loss caused by external factors beyond our control.

5. Data Retention

Data is retained only as long as necessary for the bot to function in your server. If the bot is removed from a server, operational data associated with that server may be periodically purged.

6. Your Rights

Under applicable privacy guidelines, you hold the right to request the viewing or deletion of your personal data (User ID) from our database. Such requests must be directed to the bot developer. We will comply with valid deletion requests in a timely manner.

7. Changes to Policy

We reserve the right to unilaterally update this Privacy Policy. Continued usage of the bot implies consent to the current Privacy Policy.