Keep Your Dog Healthy - Avoid Supermarket Dog Foods

In this article I focus on a topic that, affects millions of dog owners, all of us at one time or another have bought food for our dogs at the supermarket. It may be convenient to do this, but this does not benefit your dog at all.

When I first got my puppy in 1993, my trips to the supermarket would, bring a bag of dog food back to my house with me. The bag would be opened and then my dog would get fed his meal for the day. Most of the time my dog would have an upset stomach and have to constantly go to yard and relieve himself.

I spoke to a vet afterward and she pointed out that dog foods in the supermarket, are very harsh on the stomach of my pet and I needed to not buy food from there anymore. She suggested that I buy dog food recommended by top vets.

Next time, go to one of these large pet retailers and ask for the food that are recommended by the top vets, there are quite a few dog foods that are really good for your pet. The price might be a little more expensive than regular dog food, but it is so worth it.

Your pet will love you more for this and their health will improve as well. The market food was too rich and it irritated my dog back in those days, after the switch was made, he did not have stomach issues and was much happier and healthier.

Whenever I got to the market and see people buying bad dog food, it breaks my heart and I want to say something to them, but they get offended and I save myself the trouble. Your pet deserves the best in life, make sure to keep them as healthy as possible and feeding them quality dog food, will add years to their lives.

Next time you go to the vet, ask him or her what they recommend for your dog to eat, this will be one of the best choices you ever made and your pet will thank you for this.

Dogs that eat quality dog food, tend to have more energy as well, this can lead to more playful pets and this is what all of us want. We want our pets to have energy and be playful and happy.
