1:00 Speaker Garey Fox: Vision for CALS and Extension, Brief Q&A

Garey Fox was our speaker for the meeting. Garey is the incoming CALS Dean. Garey shared that he was very excited to be with our group and began by addressing two common questions he has been asked: 1. How will he be different from Rich Linton, former CALS Dean? and 2. Why is he waiting until August 1 to start in his new role? Garey came from Oklahoma State to learn from and be mentored by Rich Linton. He has opted for a longer transition time so he can tie up some loose ends professionally in his current position of department head for BAE and as a journal editor. His goal between now and August 1 is to learn as much as possible about the college and meet as many people as possible. Garey believes that Extension in NC is top notch and our efforts are very much appreciated. He has visited with the research stations and wants to visit each county Extension office as well. So far, he has already met with the Farm Bureau, Steve Troxler, and the staff at NCDA&CS. He has started connecting with folks via LinkedIn, so if you get an invite to connect with him, it is not a scam! Garey shared that he has a passion for youth programming, FFA, connecting with youth and youth development. He talked about continuing urbanization in North Carolina, as well as managing the impacts of climate change. As the digital age continues to progress, Extension is being looked to provide digital support as broadband access increases and precision ag continues to grow. Garey wrapped up his address by talking about the importance of professional development and employee retention through competitive salaries. He encouraged everyone to invite him to their events and he will do his best to make it out to them as much as possible. He will also be continuing to do listening tours across the state.

We then had a Q&A session.

1. What are your thoughts on strengthening the connection/relationship between NC State and NC A&T?
 - a. Garey has reached out to their dean and recognizes this is a partnership. He also has a great working relationship with their administration.
2. What has been your biggest challenge so far?
 - a. Time and learning the university systems at a higher level
3. What advice would you give departments when decisions are made that we don't necessarily agree with or understand?
 - a. Look at things from a different perspective
4. What steps do you want to take to build a team to address mental health in students and employees?
 - a. Mental health touch points at the department head level (open door policy) and creating a touch point culture in the college.
5. Do you see AI as something that we will use in Extension?
 - a. Absolutely; it is coming and will change the way people receive information.
One challenge: How do we know the information is valid?
6. What about digital readiness for employees?
 - a. AI initiative through provost's office will be released soon.
7. We are constantly overloaded with emails that may or may not be relevant to us. How will you address this issue?
 - a. Gary met with the new Communications Director for CALS and will be discussing information overload with her as they meet in the future.
