

Incubator ID: I7

Incubator Name: Unknown

Incubated Malady: Cancer

Threat Classification: Hostile

Maximum Potential Threat: Q

Spread Ability: Unknown

Other Abilities:

- Rot - Cancer can kill any plant or fungal matter around her, with a seemingly unlimited range. This rot spreads outwards from her in a wave, and can only rot things within a certain proximity to herself or other, already rotted, things. Because of this, her rot will be halted by a lack of matter to spread to.
- Cancer's other abilities are unknown, but there is no doubt that she has more, and more powerful, skills.
- Unknown strength ability: Cancer has an unknown ability that makes her strong enough to rip a human in half, among other grotesque applications.

Tactics:

Unknown

Effective Countermeasures:

Unknown

Notes on Appearance and Personality:

I7 has been observed to be a pale skinned woman with platinum blonde hair. She dresses in a formal dress, heels, and a wide-brimmed hat with a veil; all black.

I37 seems to have an extreme hatred of other Incubators, to the point of mercilessly slaughtering them on encounter. How much of this hatred extends to regular humans remains unclear.

Other Notes: Extremely high priority for containment, but if encountered, do not engage under any circumstances. Learning the full extent of Cancer's abilities is of the utmost importance at this juncture.