

Advancing public policy to support
endometriosis research and awareness

"Join the Congressional Endometriosis Caucus" Email Template

Dear Senator/Representative,

On behalf of the millions of women and their families affected by the disease endometriosis each year, I urge you to join the bipartisan Congressional Endometriosis Caucus. The caucus was recently launched by Congresswomen Nikema Williams (D-GA) and González-Colón (R-PR).

Endometriosis is a painful gynecological condition that affects almost 1 in 10 women (200 million) across the globe and is the leading cause of female infertility in the US. Currently, there is no known exact cause of endometriosis, and there is no cure. The Congressional Endometriosis Caucus is a bipartisan working group that will help Members raise awareness about this life-altering condition and advocate for more research that could lead to better health outcomes for millions of patients.

The caucus already has numerous Members of Congress who have joined and recently held a caucus launch event featuring leading voices of awareness, education, and advocacy for better understanding and treating this painful condition. I'm joining with the UpEndo Coalition today to ask you to join the caucus, but also to help support the caucus' efforts in bringing more attention to this issue and hopefully research funding and supportive policies.

Please contact Jasmine Payne in Rep. Williams' office to learn more or to join: jasmine.payne@mail.house.gov. I sincerely hope you will lend your voice to this important effort and help bring attention to this debilitating disease that affects millions of women and their families across the United States. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
