

Renee the Reciprocal Bee

Interdependent

You know how much you need to interact with others to asset your learning and you make informed choices about working on your own or with others.

Collaborate

You manage your feelings when working with others, you are able to work effectively as part of a pair or team.

Empathise and Listen

You can put yourself in other people's shoes to see the world from their point of view. You are able to show that you are listening by eye contact and body language and can hear the feelings and thoughts behind someone's words.

Imitate

You are ready to learn from others and notice the approach people take as well as the detail of how others do things.
