

Underwater Mystery

By Ishaan

500,000 years ago there lived a diver and he had amazing super powers. He used them for good. Every day he went for a dive in the ocean because he had water powers but really because he needed food, you know. His friends called him Tank Diver because he looked like a diver. In the ocean there were lots of things like a broken pirate ship which was probably haunted, there was big Coral and stuff like that. Also lots of the water was clear. Tank Diver had lots of powers under water. He could breath infinitely, he could clone himself, he could turn into a hammerhead shark, he could lift or break anything. Lots of things. But no one knows where his powers came from not even him. One day he just got splashed by a huge wave and got powers. Like weird!

One day Tank Diver was creeping around for food close to the pirate ship then suddenly boom! smash! He woke up in a underwater prison.

"What the heck." Tank Diver angrily said to himself. Now because he was not surrounded by water he couldn't break out. He was so angry because who knows what happened to him? He tried and tried to break open the cell, nothing.

The next day the police gave the prisoners breakfast and a glass of water. Tank Diver was excited

"YES." he shouted. The glass of water has water in it so it should help for a second. He carefully started to pour the water over his body.

"Now it should help me". As he tried to open the cell it creaked a little. He only opened it a little bit but not enough. He kept pulling.

"Come on." he cried. He started to think about who did this to him, then he remembered who it could be. As he got hit he saw a red tentacle.

It was Octo his worst enemy.

"OCTO!" he screamed

Luckily someone started drilling into the prison. That meant that that Tank Diver was in luck because he was amazing with his underwater strength. Suddenly the guy drilled through.

Crack! The police started to run, they got swept away by the water! When the water reached the cells Tank Diver had his luck. He escaped the prison. Then he realised that Octo drilled through the wall he was not happy.

"NOOO!" Tank Diver called.

"Ha ha!" Octo called back.

"Now for a big fight." shouted Tank Diver.

They had a massive fight. It was so long I will only tell you the important stuff. With Octo's long sword, his big red tentacles, red body and a pirate hat he was ready to fight.

So first Octo wrapped his tentacles around Tank Diver. Tank Diver turned into a hammerhead shark and busted free. Then suddenly Tank Diver tried to bite him, but failed. Then Tank Diver tried to crack Octo's spine, but Octo just got hurt a tiny bit.

"Ouch!" Octo was pretending to cry. Tank Diver new he was faking, he just has a sense. Then Tank Diver cracked his spine again and it wasn't a good sight. Yes not a good sight. Then Tank Diver asked him.

"Is good better then evil?" Tank Diver asked

"Yes, it is." Octo replied. Then all of a sudden Tank Diver started dabbing on him. For some reason some music was playing. Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom! Funny!

So Octo became a good guy, he liked it more then being bad. So he was now called Octopuseus, and was now Tank Diver's sidekick. They enjoyed living together. But 10 years later Octopuseus died. Tank Diver would always remember him.

THE END

