

Taking your child to the dentist. Do they absolutely hate it? Do you absolutely hate it?

Tantrums, tears, stress, and maybe even wailing or screaming. It's hard on them, and it's hard on you too. Kids get anxious for the dentist- just like adults. But because of their young age, they have less ability to cope. Here's how we can help.

Example Pediatric Dentistry offers 3 types of dental sedation for children. Click on each to learn more- Nitrous Oxide, Conscious Sedation, and General Anesthesia. Our pediatric dentists and specialists will partner with you to determine the best choice for your child.

Your child's safety is our top priority. Our office is staffed by licensed and board-certified dentists, anesthesiologists, and pediatric dental assistants. Our team members have completed many years of additional training, making them the state's top pediatric specialists.

We get your child the dental care they need and get you on with your day. Since your child is calm, they can tolerate the cleaning or procedure better. Because of this, we are able to work more quickly and thoroughly than a traditional dentist. Your child will be awake but calm for Nitrous Oxide and Conscious Sedation procedures. If General Anesthesia is used, your child will remain under the care of an anesthesiologist for a recovery period until they are awake.

We accept most dental and medical insurances, as well as HSAs and FHAs. We also offer payment plans and income-based services. Comfortable and non-traumatic dental care should be available at a reasonable cost to everyone.

We understand that some parents delay or altogether avoid dental care due to their or their children's anxiety. And we don't want you to do that. Dental care in childhood is extremely important. Untreated dental problems can lead to eating, speaking, and learning difficulties, and they can also lead to low self-esteem.

Pediatric Dental Care does not need to be a stressful, anxious, or traumatic experience for you or your child. And it definitely should not be delayed or avoided altogether. We look forward to getting your child the dental care they need- without the tantrums and tears. We love kids- and we love seeing them happy and healthy. Let us show you how much better a trip to the dentist can be.
