Home Email Template Week of 8/26/2022

STEP	GUIDELINES
1	Send an update email to your guardians and CC me by the end of the period today. *If you can't find your guardians email, check your Skyward account and you should find it under your personal information. See Mrs. Bonner if you need further help with this.
2	Your message should include the following information:
	■ Talk about your Myers-Briggs personality results. What does this say about you as a person? What does this say about us as learners coming together?
	Our first unit is about our identities. Talk about what you shared this week in your Adobe Remix and why it's important to explore our identities.
	☐ Choose 3 words related to our discussions this week and share them with your guardian. Choose words that would be most interesting or new to them. Explain these words in your own way and what you learned THIS WEEK.
	☐ Say something positive and encouraging to someone at home.
3	Sample Email Structure Hi Mom and Dad, Here is my first weekly update for Language Arts. This week, we had a chance to take a Myers-Briggs personality test. This test shows the different types of personalities that exist and which types match with me. My type was (insert your 4 types - Extraverted or Introverted, Sensing or Intuition, Thinking or Feeling, and Perceiving or Judging). From taking this personality test, I learned that (talk about what you learned about yourself). As an entire class, we talked about what we need in connection to learning. Some of those needs include (talk about 3-5 needs that we came up with in our brainstorms). Our first unit is about exploring our identities. This week, we completed an identity inventory. Some things I shared about my identity include: (insert some of the things you talked about here). It's important to explore our identities because (come up with 1-2 reasons why this is important). Three words that relate to the things we did this week in Language Arts are: word #1, word #2, and word #3. Word #1
3	Hi Mom and Dad, Here is my first weekly update for Language Arts. This week, we had a chance to take a Myers-Briggs personality test. This test shows the different types of personalities that exist and which types match with me. My type was (insert your 4 types - Extraverted or Introverted, Sensing or Intuition, Thinking or Feeling, and Perceiving or Judging). From taking this personality test, I learned that (talk about what you learned about yourself). As an entire class, we talked about what we need in connection to learning. Some of those needs include (talk about 3-5 needs that we came up with in our brainstorms). Our first unit is about exploring our identities. This week, we completed an identity inventory. Some things I shared about my identity include: (insert some of the things you talked about here). It's important to explore our identities because (come up with 1-2 reasons why this is important). Three words that relate to the things we did this week in Language Arts are: word #1, word #2, and word #3. Word #1 means
3	Hi Mom and Dad, Here is my first weekly update for Language Arts. This week, we had a chance to take a Myers-Briggs personality test. This test shows the different types of personalities that exist and which types match with me. My type was (insert your 4 types - Extraverted or Introverted, Sensing or Intuition, Thinking or Feeling, and Perceiving or Judging). From taking this personality test, I learned that (talk about what you learned about yourself). As an entire class, we talked about what we need in connection to learning. Some of those needs include (talk about 3-5 needs that we came up with in our brainstorms). Our first unit is about exploring our identities. This week, we completed an identity inventory. Some things I shared about my identity include: (insert some of the things you talked about here). It's important to explore our identities because (come up with 1-2 reasons why this is important). Three words that relate to the things we did this week in Language Arts are: word #1, word #2, and word #3. Word #1 means I chose this word because I learned Word #2 means I chose this word because I learned Word #3 means I chose this word because I learned
3	Hi Mom and Dad, Here is my first weekly update for Language Arts. This week, we had a chance to take a Myers-Briggs personality test. This test shows the different types of personalities that exist and which types match with me. My type was (insert your 4 types - Extraverted or Introverted, Sensing or Intuition, Thinking or Feeling, and Perceiving or Judging). From taking this personality test, I learned that (talk about what you learned about yourself). As an entire class, we talked about what we need in connection to learning. Some of those needs include (talk about 3-5 needs that we came up with in our brainstorms). Our first unit is about exploring our identities. This week, we completed an identity inventory. Some things I shared about my identity include: (insert some of the things you talked about here). It's important to explore our identities because (come up with 1-2 reasons why this is important). Three words that relate to the things we did this week in Language Arts are: word #1, word #2, and word #3. Word #1 means