Many young people dream about becoming an astronaut and going to space. In some ways, I would be a good astronaut, but it is probably not the job for me. One of the hardest parts of being an astronaut is being alone in space for long periods of ~~the~~-time. However, if I have something to keep me busy, I enjoy being by myself. If I have book or guitar, I am never bored, and now with Skype, I could regularly talk to my family from space. Therefore, isolation would not be a problem. Also, I am a naturally curious and careful person. I want to know why something happens or how something works, and I always pay attention to little details. In my opinion, this would make me perfect for exploring space. Unfortunately, I am afraid of ~~the~~-high places and get dizzy anytime I look out a window in a tall building. Also, I get sick to my stomach every time I fly in ~~the~~ an airplane. Though I would like to see the Earth from space, I will probably only explore the Universe at the cinema.
