

Hunt for English

Your group has 5 tasks to complete between 3.30 pm and 5.30 pm on Thursday:

Tour the city - You choose where you want to go - take notes and pictures along the way.

1:

Enter a public institution (e.g. the city hall, a ministry, a library, a university, etc.) and look for bulletin/information boards, directions, pamphlets, etc.). How easy is it to be a non-Danish speaker in Denmark?

2:

Look for traffic signs, instructions, directions, information on sights, etc. How easy is it to be a non-Danish speaker in Denmark?

3:

Pretend that you are non-Danish speakers and ask the following people about directions to "The Parliament" or "The Round Tower"... 😊 (pretend to be a little bit daft so that they have to elaborate...) and look for reactions. Introverted/extroverted? helpful/frightened?, etc.

Someone between 12-16

Someone between 17-30

Someone between 31-50

Someone above 50

Discuss the level of their English proficiency.

4:

Find a couple of young people and listen to their conversation. To what extent has English claimed the Danish language?

5:

Pretend that you are non-Danish speakers. Go to a store (shoes or clothes) and ask for assistance.

Discuss the level of the sales assistant's English proficiency
