Terms of commission

Prices will be based on per word basis of $0.0075 per word but a minimum word count of 5,000 words is required as this would give you a far more satisfying work than just a 1,000 word count. Payment will only be USD ($) and through PayPal. At the moment, I do not receive payment upfront but on a percentage basis. Flow as below:

- Commission accepted / discussion

This is where you work with me on what you desire, how the story goes and anything specific that you'd like to see or happen to your character. Once accepted, I will begin the commission.

- First draft

Once the discussion is done, a draft story will be given, on a percentage of 70% of the story itself. At this point, the story is in draft format with zero proofreading and changes. A total of 2 (TWO) amendment will be allowed during this stage but a total overhaul of the story will not be entertained.

- Payment

Once the first draft is provided and you are happy with it, payment must be made in full to proceed. This can be done before or after any amendments of the 70% status. I will provide the necessary information once payment has been requested.

- Second / Final draft

At this point, the story would be fleshed out with about 100% of the story finished, except for proofreading and any errors that arise within the commission itself. A total of 2 (TWO) amendment is allowed during the final draft but a total overhaul of the story will not be entertained.

- Commission end

The process is finished and you'll have yourself a full-fledged, proofread story.

I will provide an estimate as to how much will the story cost once 70% of it has been written. If the final work is below the payment, a refund will be given as necessary. Extra charges, however, will be based on the exceeding number of words.

DO NOT!

I do not write: vore, gore, cub, macro/micro, extreme BDSM (light is alright), lesbian and mpreg

PREFERRED!

I am more comfortable writing muscles, muscles worship, intimacy, romance, gay sex, domination, role reversal and age difference (not the cub type). However, all are not set in stone and would prefer to diversify.

Refund

If you were at any given time decided to pull off from the commission once full payment is made, there will be no refund. The reason is that I have given you 70% of the story as draft and waiting for it to be accepted. There will be a long duration period for you to make up your mind.

Short stories

I do short stories as well and this will be going by per word. Pages will range between 5 to 8 pages, depending on the story plot. This is great for those that want something that doesn't spread out into a massive story length.

IMPORTANT TO TAKE NOTE!!!!

Writing commission isn't my main income but more like a side that comes along to my main. It's not something that I work 8 hours a day in but as and when I can. Due to that, I cannot give you a proper deadline. So, there will also be a possibility of your commission taking quite a while to finish. The max will be two months to get everything done. Please be patient when doing so. I am not an author that could hurl out one story commission in one day.

Once payment has been received and commission fully transferred to the commissioner, the commissioner has full rights to the story. However, I will have the choice of posting the story on various websites for promotional purpose of my services but would be mainly on FA and SF, unless otherwise. Additionally, the story may not be used for any commercial use.

With that, do not hesitate to contact me on any commission inquiries. You can find me at:
