0.1. Completed projects and compilation of lectures are promptly reported and submitted.

O.1. Completed projects and compilation of lectures are promptly reported and submitted.

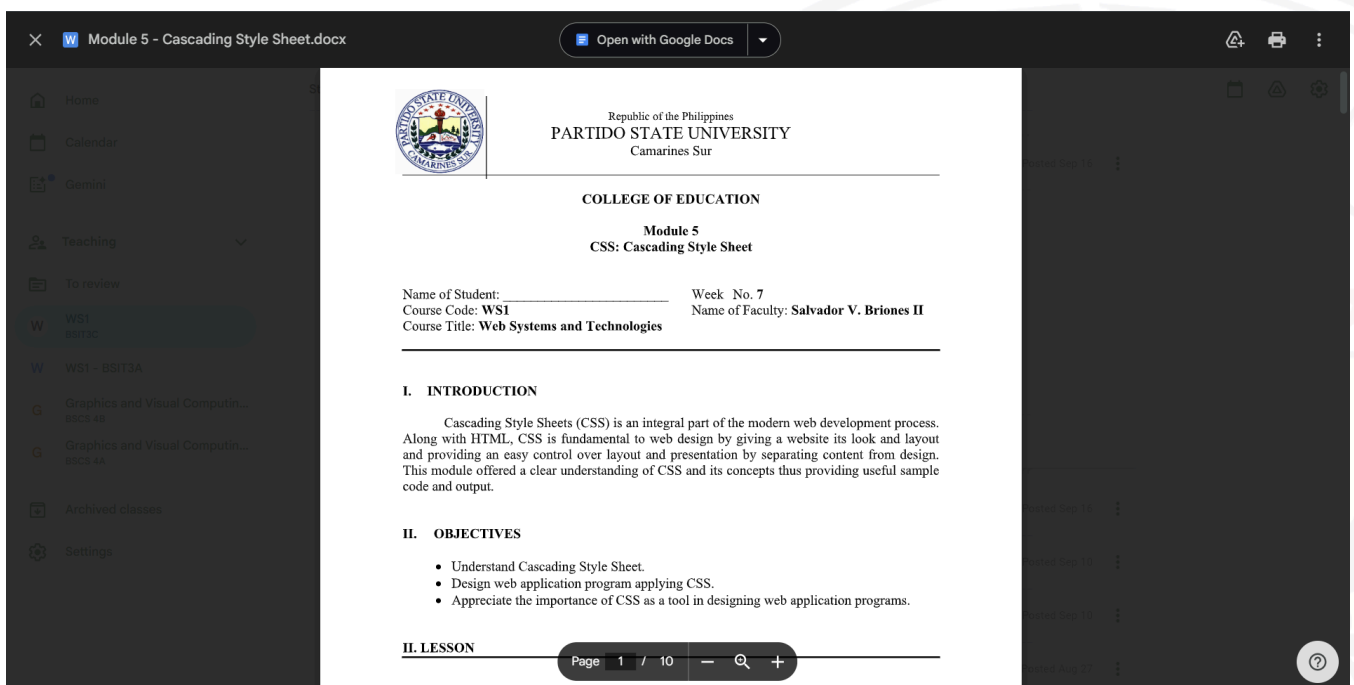

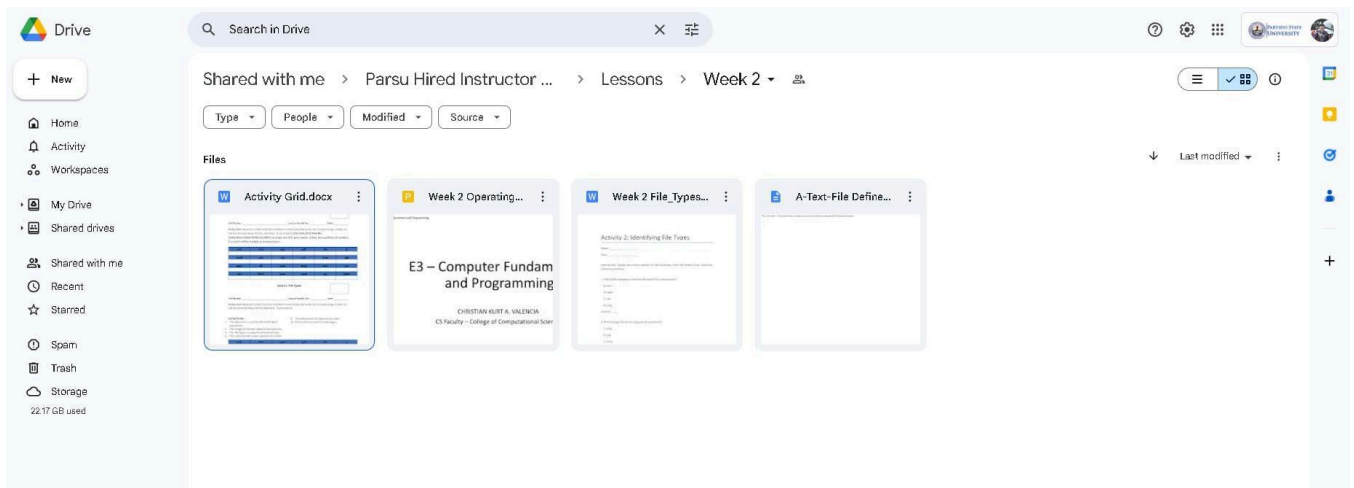

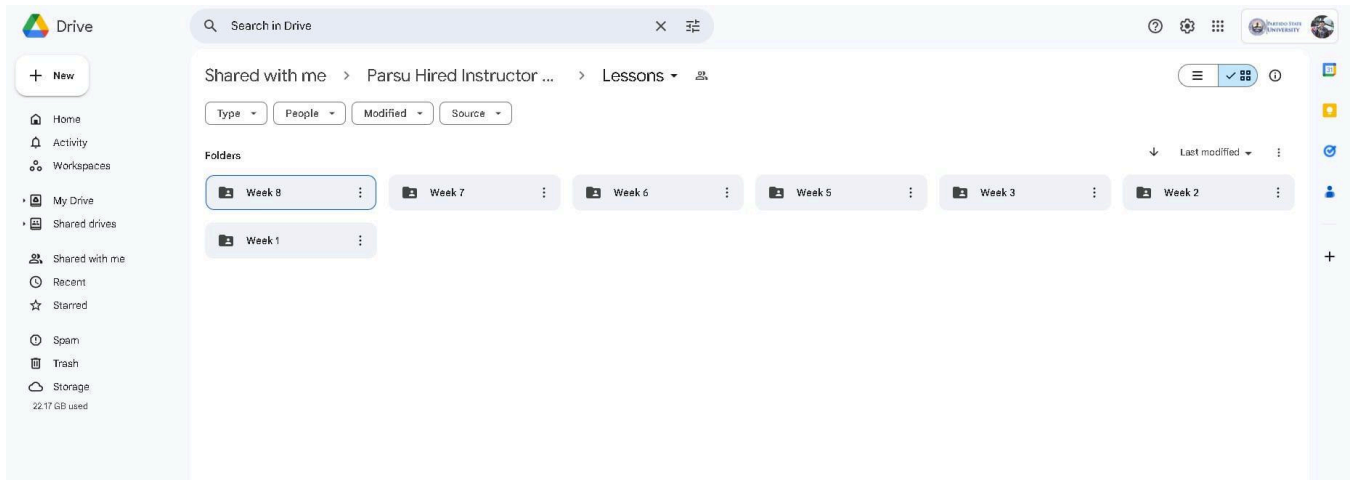

Faculty members utilize the Learning Management System (LMS), institutional email, and cloud-based platforms for the timely uploading of lecture materials, modules, and course outputs. These practices promote accountability, ensure timely dissemination of outputs, and provide accessible documentation for both academic and administrative purposes.

Through the use of LMS and available learning materials, the faculty was able to upload in advance lessons for their classes.

The faculty member is able to store and organize weekly lessons and reference materials to the institutional cloud storage (Google Drive)

Module 4
HTML: HYPERTEXT MARKUP LANGUAGE

Name of Student: _____ Week No.: 5 & 6
 Course Code: WS1 Name of Faculty: Salvador V. Briones II
 Course Title: Web Systems and Technologies

I. INTRODUCTION

Every page on the web that we visit is built using a sequence of instructions. One way to build these sequences of instructions is by using HyperText Markup Language (HTML). HTML elements were inserted into a file intended for display on the Internet. This module firmly discusses the HTML concepts and the use and function of every tag and/or element. Furthermore, this module also presents sample code and output relative to the use of a particular HTML tag and/or element.

II. OBJECTIVES

1. Learn HTML as a mark-up language.
2. Gain mastery of HTML as a tool in creating web applications.
3. Design and implement web application programs using HTML.
4. Appreciate the significance of HTML as a tool in creating web application programs.

III. LESSON

What is HTML ?
