TRIGGERS: WARNING! This blog contains content that can be seen as triggering and will contain 16+ content and some nsfw! This may include graphic violence or occasional smut. This blog will include content of and reference scarification, panic attacks, anxiety attacks, chronic pain, PTSD, Dissociative Identity Disorder (DID), Other Specified Dissociative Disorder (OSDD), child abuse (Malik has some bad abuse trauma), murder, torture, and high amounts of cursing.

DISCLAIMER: While Malik is canonically 16 years old in the main series, I default portray him as an adult. He is either 18 years or above (depends on verse). The anime ended over 20 years ago. Please let him be an adult at this point. That said, there will be nsfw content on this blog because he will be portrayed as an adult. If this type of content bothers you, don't interact.

DETAILS

Though I consider myself a writer first, my second passion is editing AMVs. Please feel free to talk to me about this!

I started this blog to represent manga-canon Malik Ishtar, since I feel the anime - especially the dub - oversimplified the character. I hope to continue improving my depiction of Malik, as well as my own writing through this blog.

I'm opinionated, but that doesn't mean I'm not open to debate or conversation. Please don't be afraid to drop me a message! I'm always open to new ideas, especially about Malik.
