Overview of the brief:

Peterborough Presents is seeking an artist or collective to deliver a programme of work with young people aged 11-24. The overall aim is to work with the young people to co-create a series of short films and/or animations.

During the process, we would like the young people to learn skills, have fun, experience new things, and create high quality artistic outputs that they can be proud of.

This project is delivered in partnership with Jack Hunt School, Cross Keys, Westraven Community Café and Garden, Peterborough Reads, and the YMCA.

The deadline for proposals is Sunday 24th March 2024.

About Peterborough Presents

Peterborough Presents works with communities and artists to create fun and diverse art across Peterborough. We work in all art forms; music, visual art, craft, film, performance both outdoors and indoors. We create projects that unlock stories that are relevant to local people.

Peterborough Presents works in neighbourhoods where there is limited access to the arts. We work across the city, with audiences who may have limited access to the arts including men, people with disabilities, young people, global majority communities of colour.

The local community are fully involved and work with PP on all parts of any project. We are looking for artists that work in a collaborative way as it is important to us that the local community are at the heart of everything that we assist in creating.

Peterborough Presents is part of the Arts Council England's Creative People and Places programme. We are supported by a team of partners including Nene Park Trust, Metal, Eastern Angles Theatre Company, Peterborough City Council, Creative Lives and Peterborough Council for Voluntary Services.

Background to this project and what we want to achieve:

Peterborough Presents have been working in Westwood/Ravensthorpe for 18 months. In that time we have created a mural, held a dog exhibition, a scavenger hunt, after school graffiti sessions, and a community picnic and cake parade.

Our most recent project involved partnering with Jack Hunt School, and working with Y11-13 students we co-created a Light Painting event and doodle workshop.

Through weekly breakfast clubs, students led on designing and shaping the event: signing up young people to take part, serving refreshments, choreographing their photoshoots, participating at the event, and designing the doodles to go on top. Following this, they decided what they would love to do next is create some short films, possibly involving animation or more light painting.

The overall aim for this commission is to continue to engage young people in Westwood, Ravensthorpe, and surrounding areas. The Lead Creative will work with young people to create a series of animations and/or short films, which are co-created by the young people themselves.

The young people we have spoken to are interested in:

- learning skills in animation, filmmaking, editing, and perhaps more light painting
- having access to equipment or opportunities which are new to them
- a project that allows everyone to participate even if they don't want to be in the spotlight

- something that makes them go “wow that’s cool”, something they can be proud of
- something that they can put on their CV, especially transferrable skills that are relevant for non-creative sectors

This commission is open and there are no set themes, stories, or styles of filmmaking. You can apply with a particular theme or story in mind if you have one, or keep it open but share your ideas for how you will shape the content for the films with the young people.

We would like the project to happen through a combination of in-school and after-school activities. At the end of the project, we’d like to host a launch party premier for the films to be showcased with the local community.

A community panel made up of local young people will choose which projects happen and support the overall delivery of the events.

Other useful background information about the neighbourhood

So far our friends on the estate have shared these ideas and themes with us:

- Young people have said there isn’t much that will get them out of the house! But they would stop if they encounter something on their walk home from school or make an effort if they know they’ll get something out of it
- There is an interest in drawing, graffiti and street art, and there are lots of creative young people who draw in their spare time or are taking Art GCSE, but very few who are doing A-Level

- They showed a lot of love for pop culture Netflix shows like Stranger Things, Gina & Georgia, and watching things on social media & youtube
- They are interested in having a go at activities they don't normally get access to, as well as creating something they can keep
- There is an interest in music, music production, singing, musical theatre. The local secondary school has music lessons and performance opportunities within school for a select few
- The neighbourhood has no social spaces for young people beyond a basketball court, Multi-use games area (MUGA) and playparks
