

KWOU Accommodations

Terry House

The Terry House is unique compared to many buildings on campus, as it used to be a house and living residence in the past. Given that this building is now owned and utilized by the university for office space and work, it is vital to be aware that structural components make the building not fully accessible upon entry. Given this challenge, KWOU wants to make known there are additional options to consider. If you want to explore remote podcast options, please get in touch with the KWOU Station Manager for more information. Additionally, if you would like to request disability-related accommodation(s) to participate in a WOU activity or event, please notify Disability Services (ODS) at 503-838-8250 or ods@wou.edu at least (3) business days in advance. For ASL interpreting, Typewell transcribing, or capturing services, please complete the online request form.

Content

Users of KWOU facilities must adhere to the ADA compliance standards related to podcasts to ensure full accessibility to the content created and produced. These standards include but are not limited to using clear audio, utilizing clear language, providing comprehensive transcripts, having closed captions, providing alternative text for images, and offering show notes. It is recommended that you review the following resources to make sure all necessary accommodations are considered: Transcript Considerations, ADA Disability rights.
