

Attention parents and guardians,

I wanted to reach out to you regarding our second project of the year, which is a research project where students choose a topic of interest to research and come up with possible solutions. This is a problem-solving assignment that is very high rigor, with steps along the way to ensure that students are successful.

It is important that parents help their student to choose a research topic that the parent feels is appropriate for their child and that the child is interested in researching for more information. The topic list and project parameters are attached.

Students have been given the project outline and rubric on Google classroom. A topic must be selected by Monday March 6th. Following the project selection they will have due dates for sections of the research paper each monday for roughly eight weeks.

In addition, we will be attending workshops in the media center in order to strengthen specific skill-sets and to put together a green screen presentation. This project will be worth three test grades. It is critical that students stay on task each week with what work is due and reach out if any additional support is needed.
