The following text is for questions no. 8 to 10.

Our school was having a big party for its anniversary, and everyone was happy. We had games and music, but the best part was our new school helper costume – a big, soft squirrel named Nutsy. The day before the party, the big squirrel was shown to everyone. It was very big and looked a bit wobbly, which made us laugh. Our friend, Andre, who doesn't talk much, was going to wear it when Nutsy came into the party.

The next day, the party was fun. We played games, and the music was loud. Then it was time for Nutsy to come in. Andre, inside the big squirrel, was going to run into the hall and dance in a funny way. But when he ran through the door, he fell! Nutsy rolled over and over, and the big head came right off! It rolled on the floor and hit the table with the drinks. A big jar of orange juice fell over and got Nutsy's head all wet.

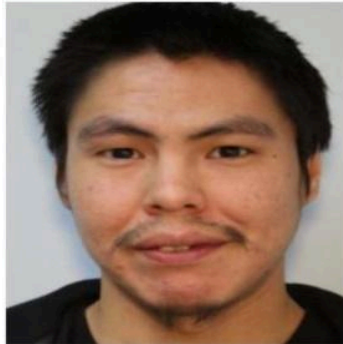

Now, our great helper looked like a sad, wet squirrel. Juice was dripping everywhere. Andre looked out of the costume with a red face. Everyone looked for a moment, and then everyone started to laugh. Even our serious teacher, Mr. Joni, was laughing a little. Nutsy falling down was not planned, but it was the funniest thing that happened that day, making our new helper's first time a funny, if a bit sticky, surprise.

8. What was the new school helper costume?
- A big, soft squirrel named Nutsy.
 - A big, soft bear named Barnaby.
 - A big, soft cat named Mittens.
 - A big, soft dog named Lucky.
9. When Nutsy fell and the juice spilled, everyone started to
- wonder what happened to the costume
 - feel sad because the plan didn't work
 - laugh because it was funny
 - worry about Andre
10. "What liquid was coming off Nutsy's head after it hit the table?"
- The sticky stuff that holds things together.
 - The clear liquid you wash with.
 - The colorful stuff artist use.
 - Orange juice.

The following text is for questions no. 14 to 17.

A long time ago, in Jenggala Kingdom there lived a king named Raden Putra. He had a kind-hearted queen and a tricky mistress. Raden Putra was very happy to live with both of them. He hoped both of them live side by side peacefully. But the mistress actually wanted to exclude the queen from the palace.

One day, the mistress said to the king that the queen put the poison into her drink. "Oh really? Did you do that my queen?" asked the king to the queen." The queen replied, "It is not true, your majesty. I didn't do what the mistress said."

However, the king believed more in the mistress accusations. The king shouted, "I don't believe you anymore my queen. Go away from my palace!". The king still evicted his wife, even though she was pregnant. He asked the chief Minister to bring her to the forest and killed her there. But the chief minister knew that the queen was not guilty. He didn't kill her. He left her alone in the forest.

Few months later, the queen gave a birth to a baby boy. He was very handsome. His name was Cindelaras. "Oh, my son. Now, you are a handsome boy. I hope you will be like your father," said the queen to the boy. Cindelaras asked, "Who is my father?" "You will know someday," the queen answered.

Cindelaras had a lot of friends of animals. One day, an eagle gave him an egg. The egg of chicken. The egg hatched and grew become a strong cock. "Cock – a – doodle – doo. My master is Cindelaras. His house is in the forest. Its roof is made of coconut leaves. His father is Raden Putra!" the rooster crowed. "Who is Raden Putra, mother? Is he my father?" Cindelaras asked with curiosity. "That's right, Cindelaras. Your father is Raden Putra. He is the king of Jenggala Kingdom." Cindelaras asked his mother's permission to go to his father. The mother allowed Cindelaras to go to the king's city, but he had to be careful of the mistress. She was very cruel, cunning and tricky.

On the way to the kingdom, he met some people in the cock contest. They challenged him. All the cocks in the contest were easily beaten by Cindelaras' cock. Among them was Raden Putra's cock. The king was impressed by the strength of Cindelaras' rooster. Suddenly Cindelaras' rooster crowed, "Cock – a – doodle – doo. My master is Cindelaras. His house is in the forest. Its roof is made of coconut leaves. His father is Raden Putra."

Raden Putra was surprised to hear the strange sound of the rooster's crowing that Cindelaras was his son because he thought that his child had died with his mother. Finally, the chief minister said the truth that he let his queen live in the forest.

The chief minister told, "I am sorry, your majesty. The queen is still alive. I hadn't killed her because actually the mistress lied to you." Raden Putra has truly become aware of the influence of mistress magic. And he regretted having made the wrong decision against his wife. "Oh, my son. Come here! Please hug me! I am sorry for my mistake!" the king said to Cindelaras. Cindelaras replied, "It is okay, your majesty. But my mom is still in the forest now."

The king then ordered the chief minister to pick up Cindelaras' mother in the forest. Then ordered the guard to seize the mistress and put her into the jail.

After the queen was back, Cindelaras was chosen to be the king of Jenggala. His father was too old to lead the kingdom. The kingdom became very prosperous.

SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT

To: All Students

We would like to inform you about an exciting event coming up! We will be holding a Class Cleanliness Competition from Monday, April 14th to Friday, April 18th, 2025.

During this week, each class will be evaluated daily on the cleanliness and tidiness of their classroom. Points will be awarded for factors such as organized desks, clean floors, well-kept notice boards, and an overall pleasant learning environment.

The winning class will receive a special prize: a fun class outing to the local cinema, with all expenses paid by the school! This is a fantastic opportunity to work together as a team and show pride in our classrooms.

Let's all work together to make our school a cleaner and more enjoyable place to learn. Discuss with your classmates and class teachers on how you can keep your classroom sparkling!

For more information, please ask your class teachers.

Sincerely Yours,
Principal

18. Who is the main target of the announcement above?
- a. The school teachers.
 - b. The parents of the students.
 - c. All the students of the school.

- In a garden with flowers and trees.
 - In a place where people walk their dogs.
 - In a place where people play games with balls.
 - In a garden or park area where people want to protect the grass.
22. Why do people make this kind of notice?
- They want the grass to grow well and stay nice to look at.
 - They want to hide something important under the grass.
 - They want people to play games on the grass carefully.
 - They want people to water the grass more often.

The following text is for questions no. 23 to 25.

Once upon a time, there were two very thin goats. Both of them felt a strong hunger rumbling in their bellies. They were tied together by a sturdy brown rope, connecting their collars. In front of them were two separate bushes, filled with fresh, tempting green leaves. One bush was situated to their left, its branches swaying gently in the breeze. The other bush stood invitingly to their right, promising a delicious meal.

The two goats, perhaps a little stubborn and were certainly very hungry. Each thought they could solve this problem on their own. The first goat, with a determined look in its eye, tugged on the rope, wanting to reach the lush leaves on the left bush. But at the same instant, the second goat had the very same idea, pulling with all its might towards the bush on the right. However, the brown rope that bound them was simply too short. No matter how much they strained and stretched their necks, the juicy green leaves remained frustratingly out of reach. They pulled and pulled, their hooves scrabbling on the ground, but they still failed to get even a single bite of what they so desperately wanted. They were tired and even hungrier than before.

Finally, their hopeless struggle began to tire them out. The goats looked at each other, perhaps understanding dawned in their goat brains. They decided to try a different way – to work together. First, one goat gently nudged the other, and they agreed to walk together towards the bush on the left. They reached it easily and happily munched on the tasty leaves until their hunger was somewhat satisfied. Then, with a shared understanding, they turned and walked together to the bush on the right. The leaves there were just as delicious, and they enjoyed their meal side-by-side. With their bellies finally full, the two goats felt happy and content, realizing that working together was much better than trying to do everything alone.

23. What is the story about?
- Two goats that were trying to find their way back home.
 - Two goats that learned it's better to help each other.
 - Two goats that had a fight over some tasty food.
 - Two goats that loved to run and play in a field.
24. The story says the goats were "a little stubborn." This probably made them....
- untie the rope very fast
 - know right away how to get the food
 - first try to get the food by themselves
 - really enjoy the leaves when they got them
25. "Both of them felt a strong hunger rumbling in their bellies"
What does "rumbling in their bellies" most likely mean?
- A feeling of emptiness and wanting food.
 - A funny sound that made the goats laugh.

- c. A sign that they were about to fall asleep.
- d. A loud noise made by the wind outside.
