Dear [Mr./Ms./Mx.] [Hiring Manager's Last Name],

I'm writing to express my strong interest in the internship opportunity at WayUp. As a highly motivated Political Science student at Emory University, I'm eager to apply my academic knowledge and skills to gain practical experience in public policy and political campaigning.

Throughout my coursework, I have developed a strong foundation in policy analysis, comparative politics, and campaign strategies. In my Public Policy Analysis course, I not only conducted in-depth research but also led a team project analyzing the impact of urban development policies on low-income communities. Our findings were subsequently presented at Emory's undergraduate research symposium, where we received an award for innovative policy solutions.

My passion for politics extends beyond the classroom. I recently volunteered for a local city council campaign, where I assisted with voter outreach and data analysis. By implementing targeted messaging strategies I helped develop, we saw a 12% increase in voter engagement among young adults in the district.

In addition to my academic and volunteer work, I have honed my leadership skills as the Vice President of Emory's Political Science Student Association. In this role, I organized a successful speaker series featuring prominent political figures and policy experts, which attracted over 500 attendees across five events.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can add value to your team. You can reach me at (470) 872-2847 or yourname@email.com.

Sincerely,

Your Name
