

REAL PEOPLE: A (live-virtual) support group for people struggling with the ethical and personal considerations of making (and/or publishing) work about real people.

The first meeting (mostly organizational) will be Saturday November 11 at 3pm ET. I plan to run this group once a month (likely on Sundays at 1pm but I'm not sure yet) for 60-90 minutes. Depending on the needs of the group, I may add another time or session or adjust the length.

The group is free / pay what you can. Your donation, should you choose to make one, will go to fund free/low cost seats for BIPOC, LGBTQ+, people with disabilities and full-time caretakers in The Commonplace School for Embodied Poetics courses.

You can come to every session or one session. Community guidelines (confidentiality, non-harming, loving kindness) will be established at the first meeting and reiterated in the beginning of each meeting.

Please email me rachel [at] commonpodcast.com if you are interested in receiving the zoom link, if you're interested but can't come to the first meeting, or if you have questions about the group.
