

A Trip to the Backrooms

One night, David had just come home from work. He was exhausted and tried to get himself a cup of water. When he did so, he's in for a rough ride because he tripped on something and "no clipped" into a place called "Backrooms"

He fell painfully on the ground. He stood up and took a look at the surroundings.

David was shocked to see just empty houses on both sides of the street. It looked endless as well. He walked down the street trying to find if there's any way to get out. Every once in a while, he would go into one of the houses to take a rest. He thought, 'How am I supposed to get out of here?'

Suddenly, things started to change. Fog came out of nowhere and houses collapsed one by one. That made David came out. He was confused. Within minutes, the powerful fog made seeing things almost impossible.

At that moment, he felt like someone or something was watching him from behind. He was right about something's watching, though, the next thing he saw was a giant black creature lurking in the fog. He was so scared that his heart sank.

David had no choice but to run in the opposite direction. As he was running, he thought that he had lost the creature.

However, little did he know, the creature could teleport and he came face to face with it by bumping on its leg. At that point, David just stood there, paralysed in fear. It was now just a live or death situation!

After he came back to his senses, he sprinted for his life but the creature kept stopping him. He was desperate to find an exit back to the real world.

In the distance, he saw a hole that's likely to resemble an exit. David ran as fast as he could, hoping he could reach it before the creature stops him. Fortunately, he actually got to the hole and jumped down. He landed on his couch safely so that was the end of his "nightmare adventure".

In the end, he was traumatised and told his friends about it. However, they wouldn't buy it. From that day on, he's being extra careful not to trip on anything. Although it didn't happened again ,he is still puzzled of why that place even exist.