

On the following pages, you will see a series of statements.

Please rate how much you agree with the following statements or how well the statements describe you.

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Stronglydisagree | Disagree | SlightlyDisagree | NeitherAgreeNorDisagree | SlightlyAgree | Agree | StronglyAgree |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|---------------------------|-----------|-------------------------------|
| 1  | Children should be taught to place duty before pleasure.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |
| 2A | You're walking on the street, and a stranger starts talking to you.The stranger is probably trying to trick me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |
| 2B | I would trust the stranger. The person probably has good intentions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |
| 3  | It's after dinner, and you go to the ATM to get some cash. The person in front of you turns around and says, "I can't figure out how to get the machine to take a deposit. Can you help me do it?"I would trust the person.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |
| 4  | You are working in a company for two years, and one day you meet a co-worker from a different department that you've never met before. You've been working on a sales account that could be a big accomplishment. The co-worker asks about the account.I would feel comfortable telling this co-worker about the account.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |
| 5  | You're working in a company for two years, and one day you meet a co-worker from a different department that you've never met before. You are sitting outside a meeting room waiting for the meeting to start, and the two of you start talking. The co-worker starts asking you if you're married, if you have children, what your hobbies are. Then you remember what a friend of yours told you: "Be careful not to share your personal secrets with people you don't know because they could use those secrets to hurt you."Do you agree with this statement? | 1                                | 2                        | 3                                | 4                                               | 5                         | 6         | 7                             |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 6   | We should keep our aging parents with us at home.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 7   | You start working at a new company. The salary is good, and you like the job. But when you get your first paycheck, you find out that you got more money than you expected. You look at the paycheck, and you see that they didn't take out the legally required taxes. You ask your boss, and your boss says, "Oh, everyone here does that. That's no problem. And this way you earn more money!" I would insist on paying the required taxes. | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 8   | Children should feel honored if their parents receive a distinguished award.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 9   | I like going to parties and talking to people I don't know in order to make new friends. Imagine you're on a four-hour flight to another city, and you're traveling alone. Another person sits in the next seat to you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 10  | I would talk to that person and share details about myself—my job, my family members, where I went to school, whether I'm married or have a boyfriend/girlfriend.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 11A | You get a 60% on a midterm, and you might fail the class if you don't do better on the final exam. You're in a bad mood. Your good friend criticizes you. "It's your fault. You need to study harder." This makes you feel worse. This friend is being a good friend.                                                                                                                                                                           | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| 11B | I would try to make friends who are more supportive.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |

You're in a math class with 100 people in it. After class on Wednesday, you go the cafeteria to eat lunch. You sit at a table, and you are studying your notes from the class. The cafeteria is crowded, so another person sits down at your table. You recognize the person is in your class, but you've never talked to that person and don't know the person's name. You could continue studying your notes, or you could talk to that person "Hey, how do you like the class?"

|    |  |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 12 |  | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

I would start a conversation with that person.

One day, you discover your dream in life is to write novels. You spend two years writing and editing a novel. After it's ready, you share the novel with several of your friends. A few days later, they say, "This novel is silly! You should give up this dream. It's impractical. If you choose a practical job, you'll be happier." They make you so sad that you start to cry after you go back home.

|    |  |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 13 |  | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

These people aren't really your friends. I should find friends that are more supportive.

Imagine you've worked for a company—you like your job, and you like your colleagues. But you haven't gotten a raise for 5 years. Now you're thinking about asking your boss for a raise. Of course, it could anger your boss and make working there uncomfortable.

|    |  |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 14 |  | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
|----|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

I would still ask my boss for a raise.