

Excel

Online School of Real Estate

by Jeff Keller

Thanks for your interest in the course. Here are a few frequently asked questions students ask to help make enrollment easier. Please read below and email me your other questions -----
Thanks, Jeff Keller, III jeffkeller3@gmail.com

Q: Where do I enroll for the onsite course?

Enrollment is offered online. Early enrollment offers better tuition pricing.

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/zoom-into-real-estate-75-hr-georgia-pre-license-course-online-stream-tickets-1298479369749?aff=oddtcreator>

Q: How is this different than going to other online classes?

A: This is an instructor-led course and will replicate a classroom. We will have a live lecture, video, audio, and other games with a textbook (purchased separately). The live lecture will enable students to ask and answer questions just like in a traditional classroom before, during, and after class. Other line courses may offer a self-paced class with slides and comprehension from repetition.

Q: What is the cost of tuition?

A: $265-$335 depending on when you register. Take advantage of our early enrollment incentives.

Q: How many students are in each class?

A: Each semester the class normally averages about 10 students.

Q: Will there be any weekends?

A: No, each of our class lectures is consistently Tues and Thurs. nights only.

Q: Will you accept a GI bill or military discounts?

A: Unfortunately, there is no tuition assistance for any student including our active duty and retired veterans directly offered.

Q: I may not be able to attend some classes. What is your makeup policy?

A: We have a make-up policy that would require any student to make up time for classes missed over 8 hours for any reason. We have time within the semester dedicated to making up missed time. There is time built in for missed classes

Q: I was undecided about enrolling online or onsite, do you recommend one over the other?

A: The material is identical. I would ask you what type of learner are you. Obviously, if your schedule does not allow you to attend, self-paced would be the best option. Would you learn from an instructor and lecture? This platform would be preferred. Do you have a “full schedule?” A self-paced class may be best. Do you require a disciplined schedule? An instructor led class would be recommended. Each student will have a preferred method of learning.

Q: I've heard how boring real estate school is generally, what makes your class different and engaging?

A: I can't speak for other classes but we have lots of fun! We use websites, YouTube, games, visuals, and audio for enhanced learning. We have an open learning environment that welcomes many open discussions about relevant topics.

Next, all of our classes have, at this moment, audio support (working every day to add more!) and emailed to you the student. We are working on the audio library of lectures.

We noticed over time, that students object that they do not have enough time one-on-one with the instructor This was our way of giving every student “instructor” time.

Q: Do you issue the license?

A: No, after passing the class, there will be a state exam and the testing center may issue you your license or it will be mailed to you.

Q: What is your passing rate?

A: Our passing rate over the past year is along with the state average the first time (75%) take the test and for students who take the state exam more than once (62%).

Q: I have other questions. How may I speak with someone or the instructor?

A: Easy, just email me directly, jeffkeller3@gmail.com RE: Course Questions ----Jeff Keller, III

Q: If the class is offered on Zoom, how will we take a test?

A: We will offer an in-person test to protect the integrity of the test at a facility in Augusta, GA If your address is not local, we will find a proctor close to you and work with that third party together.