Each day in this unit, we'll ask that you practice the following routines at home, just as we would do at school - in addition to the changing daily activity you'll find posted below!

Daily Weather Routines!

1. Check out this NEW WEATHER SONG!
2. Look out the window at YOUR house, high in the sky....what do you see?
3. Discuss the following with your child about the weather:
 - Wow! Did you see all that wind yesterday?! Do you remember when the leaves on the trees turned different colors like red, yellow, and orange? And then they all fell off the trees? The wind makes the leaves fall off the trees, too!

Please participate in our DAILY WEATHER SURVEY! Submit your answer, and then click "See previous responses" to see a graph of what the weather is like at everyone else's house today! Did everyone pick the same kind of weather?

We're learning more about the WIND & it sure has been windy!

If you didn't get to watch yesterday, see what the wind is doing at Miss Emily's house!

Remember to click the bottom right button for full-screen after the video starts!

If you already watched yesterday, can you remember all the things she showed you?!

Windy Day

Next, let's read and see what else the wind can do!

Learning about the Wind

Is it windy at your house today?

If so, look for things that the wind is moving - just like Miss Emily showed you - we'd love to see what you find!

Other ideas of wind activities:

- Use a straw to BLOW paint across your paper. Helpful hint, cut a plastic straw in half so your breath doesn't have as far to travel down the straw to your paint/paper.

- Make your own wind chime (DIY Ideas)
- Use construction paper, string, ribbons to make a kite craft - just cut the paper into a kite shape and add the tail! You could even take it outside to fly!
- Run around with your arms out like wings and pretend to fly like the kid showed us in the poem today! Is the wind moving your hair? Your clothes? Can you feel it? Does it feel hot or cold?

Stay Balanced with some "Windy Day" yoga for kids!

REMEMBER!!

Send your child's teacher a video/photo of your child trying this activity OR something else!!

(If you wish, you can now respond to our videos right on Flipgrid!)

If you are unable to post - please let us know with a message that you still did the activity as we are tracking participation.
