NextGen Professors Application - CIRTL AGEP Toolkit

Q7 CIRTL AGEP Toolkit: NextGen Professors Program Application Template

NextGen Professors is a career-development program focused on preparing Cornell graduate students and postdocs for faculty careers across institutional types. The primary audience for this program is doctoral students (in year 3 or beyond) and postdocs from backgrounds historically excluded from and underrepresented in the professoriate, and/or those with a demonstrated commitment to advancing diversity, inclusion, access and equity in academia. Participants are members of a cohort who together, engage in series of professional and career development activities including monthly NextGen Professors meetings, Power Mentoring Sessions with invited faculty, and the Future Professors Institute. Participants also engage in program offerings of Future Faculty and Academic Careers, which focus on effectively integrating research and teaching skills for career development.

 Important Dates Application Package Priority Submission Date: September 15
 Decisions released by early October 2022
First Cohort meeting on October 20 from 4-5:30 pm ET

 Application & Criteria   This program is focused on advancing diversity and inclusion within the professoriate with an emphasis on engaging doctoral students and postdocs from backgrounds historically underrepresented in the academy, and/or those with a demonstrated commitment to advancing diversity, inclusion, access and equity in the academy. Backgrounds historically excluded from and underrepresented in the professoriate include the following:
 * first-generation college graduates
 * members of ethnic and/or racial groups historically excluded from and underrepresented in graduate education – Black, Indigenous (Native American, Alaskan Native, Native Hawaiian, Native Pacific Islanders, other Indigenous peoples), Hispanic/Latine, and/or South East Asian scholars managing a disability
 * having a gender identity and/or sexual orientation historically underrepresented in their field of study
 * veterans

Doctoral students applying to the program should be in Year 3 of their doctoral studies or beyond.

Application Package
Complete and submit your application using this Qualtrics form. Within this application, you will be prompted to upload the following documents:
- Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Teaching Mini Statement (500 words or less)
- Research Mini Statement (500 words or less)
- Diversity Mini Statement (500 words or less)

Please visit https://gradschool.cornell.edu/nextgen-application to access resources that will help guide you in the preparation of your teaching, research, and diversity mini statements.

 Note: We appreciate that the task of preparing these documents could feel daunting for future faculty who have not yet begun to develop such statements. However, draft statements should be reflective based on your experiences thus far and should also consider what you hope to accomplish in the near future as you prepare for the academic job market. These documents will serve as baseline products that NextGen Professor will build upon and refine over the course of the year through their participation in this program.

This initiative is co-sponsored by the Graduate School Office of Inclusion & Student Engagement and Future Faculty and Academic Careers. It is also supported by the National Science Foundation under Grant No. 1647094 (CIRTL AGEP). Any opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this material are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the National Science Foundation.
