

Dear Launderers,

I have been following your content for quite some time and it is always cherry on top to watch your demo analysis, casting matches, etc. So I can't help but check out your clothing store BOXR after watching the advertisement.

And to my surprise, the website looks very brilliant. It has a minimalistic style of design which give me a sense of comfort while discovering the products. Talk about the products, I'm truly impressed with how unique your clothes are, They don't feel repetitive or ordinary but instead very intriguing and stand-out

Also, I very much respect your vision for the brand as you don't want to make BOXR become your own merch but a company. Especially at a time when most influencers want to boost their products by heavily attaching their name & brand to those products. Quality is also a plus for your products as you said they are made with ethical sources and by an in-house design team

However, I noticed that there are still some aspects that if improved can effectively boost your business, and attract more people to buy your brand, not just to support you but also interested in the brand's style & direction

As a solution, I would like to offer you free newsletter email samples as well as a sale email sample for your new product anime profile pic shirt, no gimmicks, no cost. Additionally, if you find what I attach here at the bottom of value, I would love to discuss further marketing strategies for even greater results on a Zoom call (provided we are a good match.)

I understand that you are busy and receive many emails. However, I do have several other projects that I could delegate my time to so if this isn't something you're interested in please don't hesitate to let me know.

Thanks for your time for considering me as a strategic partner.

Best regards,
