Interactive Workshop Submission TEMPLATE

The interactive workshop constitutes a contribution towards continuing professional learning in higher education teaching and learning for participants. This could include introducing participants to a new concept or practice that invites active involvement to work through, which participants could apply in their own teaching practice.

As an interactive workshop, presenters facilitate active engagement and interaction by participants. The emphasis is on participants doing, experiencing, questioning, discussing, debating, and experimenting through an extended session.

Successful workshops focus on activities, as opposed to round-table discussion or extended presentations of the facilitators' teaching and research interests. A workshop is 90 minutes to enable this.
