About me

I am an open-minded person, and I like to learn new things. Last years I worked as an IT-specialist and I want to continue to develop my skills in this area. I moved to the Netherlands recently and started to learn Dutch and also improve my English. My level is B2. I have good social and communicative skills and analytical approach. I like to go deeply into details, test new technologies and bring things to the end.

I take my responsibilities seriously and approach my duties with strong organizational skills and initiative. I am skilled in negotiation, have a flexible approach to problem-solving, and quickly grasp new information. I consider myself a highly qualified specialist.
