

THI Disability Studies Cluster

Encore Papers & Presentations

Friday, May 5

11am - 2pm

John Lewis Namaste Lounge & on Zoom

This crip-friendly is an opportunity to learn about what your UCSC colleagues are doing in their Disability Studies work. Presenters will present works-in-progress, or re-deliver papers they have given in professional venues (such as conferences, workshops, etc.). Attendees are invited to actively and passively participate, and speakers will provide notes, a script, and/or links to slides for access.

SCHEDULE

Autism Life Writing

Caitlin Flaws, Literature

Autoethnography, Undone: Towards a Crip Critique of Ethnographic Realism

Dr. Megan Moodie, Anthropology

Beyond UDL: Improving Accessibility through Asynchronous Activities

Dr. Brenda Sanfilippo, Writing Program

Toward an Access Manifesto for the Food Limited (new order!)

Dr. Amy Vidali, Writing Program

The Mortification of Harvey Leach (new order!)

Dr. Michael Chemers, Performance, Play & Design

What Might a History Course on Disabilities in East Asia Look Like?

Dr. Noriko Aso, History

NOTE: This is a scent-free event. If you need a specific accommodation for this event (including professional captioning and/or ASL interpreting), please contact Amy Vidali at avidali@ucsc.edu with what you need. (Disclosing why you need this accommodation is not required.)

