INTRODUCTION

This template must be used as a guide for the format and layout of writing articles to be published in the IJSH. Authors must follow all the writing rules regarding typeface, size, design, number of words, systematics, and writing references. The author must also ensure that the article uses excellent and correct Indonesian. The paper's contents must include abstracts and contacts in the font: Times New Roman size: 11, and line spacing: Single (1,15). In addition, authors are required to use this template file (NOT create a new file) to avoid mismatches in the layout of the entire page (paper size, margins, etc.).

In the last paragraph, an author must clearly state the work's objectives. The author must provide an adequate background, avoiding a detailed literature survey or a summary of the results (Mayer 1975a, 1975b, 1980). References must be cited in, e.g. (Anderson et al. 1990, Salehizadeh et al. 2004), in which the reference manager is recommended.

METHOD

The methodology can consist of material, research methods, references, instruments and data analysis, and modelling. Completely write down the research location, the number of respondents, how to process the results of observations or interviews or questionnaires, and how to measure performance benchmarks; The general method does not need to be written in detail, but it is enough to refer to the reference book.

RESULT AND DISCUSSION

This section should answer the research hypothesis stated in the Introduction. The results and discussion contain research findings and discussion. Adequate data must support all conclusions.

Manuscripts are written in English with a maximum of 2 pages, including figures and tables. Articles must be written in an A4 (210 x 297 mm). Manuscripts must be written in Times New Roman typeface with a font size of 11 pt, 1.15 spaces apart, and in one-column format (except for the article title, author's name, and abstract). The distance between the columns is 1 cm.

The use of tables and figures should be mentioned in the text by saying table 1, Figure 1, etc.

Table 1. Example for table

CONCLUSION

This section should emphasize the significant interpretations and conclusions of the paper as. Well, the decision contains the main points of this article, presented briefly, narratively, non-bulleted, and conceptually.

This section should emphasize the main interpretations and conclusions of the paper and their significance. Findings should be consistent with the research objectives, and the impact of the research should be stated.
