

Smooth Sailing

One day, Shawn and his dad got on a boat named "Smooth Sailing" by his dad. Whenever they went to the ocean, his father always patiently taught Shawn how to sail. Shawn didn't want to disappoint his father, but he also didn't do well. Even so, Shawn still enjoyed the time on the ocean. However, the happy time did not last long. With the sudden increase in the sea breeze, his father realized that the heavy rain was going to hit them. He immediately asked Shawn to control the steering wheel and went to the bow of the boat to check the situation. After shaking violently for a period of time, the ocean finally calmed down, but Shawn's father also disappeared. Shawn shouted, trying to locate his exhausted father on the boat, but he didn't get a response. The torrential rain was still raging, so Shawn knew that he had to go back to the shore for help. He tried to remember everything his father taught him; step by step, he drove the ship back to the port. Luckily, Shawn met his father who was rescued by other fishing boats at the pier. When his father saw his son trying to survive against the ocean, his father said slowly, "Well done, my little sailor."
