

The Quota

Available Character Archetypes

The Rebel

Rage against the system, finding ways of subversion or small moments of rebellion. Pick this part if you wish to push people to question their complacency, choices and preconceptions. How long can you keep fighting this rigid, uncaring system?

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Cashier

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Decent
- Profound

- Mellow
- Agonizing
- Fraudulent

The Lover

You find light in the darkness through your intense emotions and genuine care. Pick this character if you wish to play on the power of love in both its selfish and selfless guises. To see if love is enough, if it inspires others to love or alienates them and destroys you.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Community outreach officer

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: East Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Persuasive
- Principled
- Stubborn
- Emotional
- Delicate
- Sanctimonious

The Creator

You use creativity and ingenuity to find new and better ways of doing things. The creator is someone who sees the potential for creating something beautiful even in the darkness. Take this role to look for positive opportunities in the world of the detention centre. Is it possible to make the place better using only the limited resources to hand?

Class: Middle Class

Members of the middle class, about 31 percent of British society, reported high economic capital, high status of mean social contacts, and both highbrow and high emerging cultural capital. Many are graduates, and a majority of their members work in the professions or management. Many originated from professional and managerial families. There are some ethnic minorities. They can be fairly described as comfortably off, secure, and established.

Job: Journalist

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Relaxed
- Agreeable
- Neutral
- Mystical
- Stupid
- Paranoid

The Sage

Provide clarity (or this illusion of it) to other characters who are seeking it. Take this role to play on wisdom and spiritual leadership. To see if it is possible to rise above the hopelessness of the detention centre. A clear mind and a peaceful soul will always see the path. But what if the lights go out?

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Call centre advisor

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Curious
- Tidy
- Droll
- Maternal
- Dissolute
- Difficult

The Ruler

You know how to get people to follow you, to rally those within the detention centre and try and build unity through leadership. Take this role to give others orders to follow and a clear sense of direction. Can you steer between decisiveness and tyranny? Is effective leadership possible within an arbitrary system?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: East of England

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Perceptive
- Reliable
- Questioning
- Noncompetitive
- Pretentious
- Dogmatic

The Traitor

People put their trust in you, and they never should. Whether you are in it for yourself or if your reasons are honorable, you always end up hurting and betraying those nearest to you. The purpose of this role is to inject drama into the community and challenge existing loyalties. Take this role to build connections and trust, gather knowledge and play towards a point where it all comes crashing down. Who will you betray in the end and can you get out in one piece?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Eloquent
- Skillful
- Iconoclastic
- Busy
- Egocentric
- Bland

Anchor

You are the solid emotional base from which others can take personal risks. You shift the gravity of any group, exerting influence not through charisma but through solid relationships. Take this character to make sure your group weathers the storm. Will your strength be enough to provide the anchor others need?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Administrator (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Adaptable
- Dutiful
- Emotional
- Ordinary
- Well-meaning
- Amoral

Pilgrim

The purpose of this character is to go on metaphorical journey in search of some truth or to find peace. Take this role if you want to encourage others to travel with you in order to receive something that may (or may not) actually be available. Explore doubt in what you believe in, or remain steadfast to the end.

Class: Underclass

The underclass is the segment of the population that occupies the lowest possible position in a class hierarchy, below the core body of the working class. Essentially they can be seen as victims of the economic and social system. They make up the unemployed, the underskilled, and the poorly educated. In the Quota, the underclass will tend to be those who have existed outside of the benefits system and have found ways to supplement their income through criminal activity

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South East

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Profound
- Polished
- Conservative
- Stolid
- Crafty
- Uncaring

Enthusiast

There is something you have a passion for, something so distracting that even the sorrow of the detention centre will not quell it. You like to talk about it to others even if they don't, so expect some characters to lose their temper with you on occasion.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: UKIP

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The UK Independence Party (UKIP) is a Eurosceptic and right-wing populist political party in the United Kingdom. The pressure UKIP exerted on the government is widely regarded as the main reason for the 2016 referendum which led to the decision to withdraw from the European Union.

Ideologically positioned on the right-wing of British politics, political scientists characterise UKIP as part of a broader European radical right. UKIP's primary emphasis has been on Euroscepticism, It promotes a British unionist and British nationalist agenda, encouraging a unitary British identity in opposition to growing Welsh and Scottish nationalisms. UKIP has also placed strong emphasis on lowering immigration, rejecting multiculturalism, and opposing what it calls the Islamification of Britain. It distinguishes itself from the mainstream political establishment through heavy use of populist rhetoric, for instance through descriptions of its supporters as the People's Army.

Region: East of England

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Trusting
- Healthy
- Effeminate
- Stylish
- Troublesome
- Mannerless

Know-it-all

You always have the solution to any problem. This may be positive, in the form of good advice, or negative in the form of unwanted or unhelpful advice. Take this role to play someone who teaches and who may or may not be capable of learning from their experiences. Will your experiences in the detention centre humble you or will you end up isolated by your own sense of rightness?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Respectful
- Sharing
- Droll
- High-spirited
- Melancholic
- Clumsy

Fool

This character thinks they know it all but they don't. Play this character if you want to lead others into danger, failure and potentially despair when they realise you aren't what you claim to be.

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Construction worker

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Painstaking

- Polished
- Amusing
- Ordinary
- Possessive
- Unprincipled

Teacher

The teacher cannot standby watching others struggle, they will offer assistance in the form of advice and the sharing of knowledge. Play this character if you wish with play a kind and caring character who seeks to help other raise above the destitution they now face.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Winning
- Disciplined
- Sensual
- Circumspect
- Ridiculous
- Desperate

Visionary

You can always imagine a better purpose, and you know how to get people believing in it too. Pick this character to play the charismatic leader. What happens to a visionary in a place that crushes dreams?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Assistant cook

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Sexy
- Adaptable
- Cerebral
- Ascetic
- Disturbing
- Obsessive

Leader

The leader cannot help but take control, this is not malicious just merely part of their character. With their guidance, any obstacle can be overcome and damned be those who do not follow your lead. Play this character to explore public speaking and team leading even in the direst of situations.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: London

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Intelligent
- Caring
- Deceptive
- Ordinary
- Resentful
- Miserable

Devil's Advocate

You like to challenge people's opinions and take opposing views. Take this role to provoke people and stir up debate. Is there anything you believe in or anything you can be brought to believe in?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Technician (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: North East

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Anticipative
- Challenging
- Unfathomable
- Idiosyncratic
- Venal
- Muddle-headed

Naïve

Be the counterpoint to the more cynical and broken characters in the larp. Take this role to play a character at the start of their journey, who has never seen a world like this before, is open to influence, opinions unformed. Will you end up drawn to those with hope or without it? Will you be broken or will you represent a second chance that will turn another character around?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Hospital care assistant

Voted For: Lib Dem

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

Region: East of England

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Colorful
- Clear-headed
- Soft
- Soft
- Hateful
- Morbid

Citizen

The citizen is someone who stays on the narrow path, playing within the system rather than against it. Not to rock the boat and try and come out the other side. Take this character to attempt to conform and survive in a world that is arbitrary and may or may not reward you. How long can you keep being reasonable in a world that is so unfair to you?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Genuine
- Compassionate
- Breezy
- Unpatriotic
- Faithless
- Dissolute

Mediator

The Mediator is someone whose key ability is to foster understanding between people. The purpose of this character is to act as a bridge between individuals who otherwise wouldn't see eye to eye. Pick this character if you wish to try to soothe tensions and help build community inside the facility. Is the joy you feel from helping others enough to keep yourself strong?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Decent
- Youthful
- Paternalistic
- Modern

- Mechanical
- Irritable

Seeker

The seeker is always looking for enlightenment, finding answers and encouraging others to do the same. Take this role if you want to be a hub of knowledge and to ask a lot of questions and assimilate a lot of answers. Whilst The Quota is not a mystery larp - what is going is made quite clear - there are hidden truths in the people you will meet.

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Kitchen assistant

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: East of England

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Neat
- Heroic
- Soft

- Impassive
- Amoral
- Reactive

Free-agent

Not aligned with any particular group or cause your primary function is to facilitate negotiation, to defuse tension, and to spread rumour. Play this character if you are at your best outside of a team, or if you want the challenge of operating inside the centre without backup.

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Mechanic

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: East Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Optimistic
- Forgiving
- Authoritarian
- Outspoken
- Aloof
- Dissolute

Confidante

The listener and the best friend. This character has no ulterior motive behind their need to support those they care about. Play this character if you want to be someone who will always be there for the characters they are close to, always ready to listen and offer advice no matter what is going on in their life.

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society. They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Machine operative

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Imaginative
- Self-denying
- Restrained
- Complex
- Narrow-minded
- Assertive

Innovator

Tinker with systems and relations in pursuit of something better. A pragmatist who nonetheless seeks to improve both how things run and how people interact. Take this role to keep prodding at things that might seem fixed, choose risk over stability. Shake things up.

Will you create something you end up wanting to stay and protect or will you break something you then need, all the more, to escape from?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Trainer (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Remain

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: London

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Passionate
- Wise
- Frugal
- Driving
- Artificial
- Petty

Tactician

Always a system to manipulate for your advantage, it's something this character believes strongly. The tactician is a calm character and an observer who only acts when the time is right. The purpose of this character is to have someone to game the system. What will you do when you realize that the rules are arbitrary?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Trainer (Recently laid off)

Voted For: UKIP

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The UK Independence Party (UKIP) is a Eurosceptic and right-wing populist political party in the United Kingdom. The pressure UKIP exerted on the government is widely regarded as the main reason for the 2016 referendum which led to the decision to withdraw from the European Union.

Ideologically positioned on the right-wing of British politics, political scientists characterise UKIP as part of a broader European radical right. UKIP's primary emphasis has been on Euroscepticism, It promotes a British unionist and British nationalist agenda, encouraging a unitary British identity in opposition to growing Welsh and Scottish nationalisms. UKIP has also placed strong emphasis on lowering immigration, rejecting multiculturalism, and opposing what it calls the Islamification of Britain. It distinguishes itself from the mainstream political establishment through heavy use of populist rhetoric, for instance through descriptions of its supporters as the People's Army.

Region: East of England

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Fair
- Liberal
- Unambitious
- Complex
- Unctuous
- Pedantic

Meddler

You just can't help yourself. This character will drive conflict where they are not wanted, presenting danger to themselves and others. Play this character if you want to be the nosey character interrupting everyone else business.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Associate (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: London

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Gentle
- Faithful
- Sarcastic
- Complex
- Oppressed
- Irrational

Politician

Popularity is a means to both control your environment and guard yourself. Play this character to be the popular one using whatever means necessary. If it means lying to some to gain the favour of the many then so be it.

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Mechanic

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: East Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Cultured
- Observant
- Proud
- Strict
- Opinionated
- Dishonest

Turncoat

You are inherently untrustworthy. You get caught up in emotional drama, torn between old friends and new priorities, you cannot help but challenge the coherence of existing groups. Pick this role to play on betrayal, on the emotional fallout of an individual who turns their back on old loyalties to pursue new options. Once you've gone, can you ever go back and will your new friends ever really trust you?

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Aircraft cleaning technician (Unemployed)

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Scotland

Football: Football hooligan

Possible Traits:

- Forceful
- High-minded
- Intense
- Emotional
- Secretive
- Bewildered

Critic

The purpose of this character is to strip away the illusions people carry. This can be done for their own good or maliciously. Take this role to antagonise and to try to get people to open their eyes. Only with their eyes open will they have a chance of finding a way out. But not everyone wants to see the world the way you do. Will trying to pop people's bubble get you thanked or hated?

Class: Underclass

The underclass is the segment of the population that occupies the lowest possible position in a class hierarchy, below the core body of the working class. Essentially they can be seen as victims of the economic and social system. They make up the unemployed, the underskilled, and the poorly educated. In the Quota, the underclass will tend to be those who have existed outside of the benefits system and have found ways to supplement their income through criminal activity

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: North West

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Calm
- Prudent
- Circumspect
- Irreverent
- Vulnerable
- Irritable

Wanderer

The Wanderer is rarely at peace. Always chasing that elusive somewhere else where they can finally experience a sense of belonging, never quite finding it. The purpose of this character is to explore the edges of human experience, to make other players question their own contentment. Pick this character to go on a physical and spiritual journey through this facility. Can you find your centre in a place that no one would call home?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Personal Assistant

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Thorough
- Resourceful
- Skeptical
- Physical
- Calculating
- Pedantic

Outlaw

The Outlaw has no respect for authority or anyone else's rules but their own. The purpose of this character is to stand up to authority and to refuse to be cowed by them. You will be unpopular with the guards, and because of your behaviour you may not have many friends from the other inmates. Will you inspire others to take a stand, or bring chaos and mayhem to the facility?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Sales Consultant

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: North East

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Modest
- Benevolent
- Dominating
- Irreligious
- Airy
- Gullible

Poet

You know how create an alternate reality for themselves and others, a garden of bright images into which to escape. Take this role to dream and seek to share your dreams. To move others and collect their stories. It is possible to create beauty within the detention centre or are your dreams constantly ripped away?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Mechanic

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Selfless
- Directed
- Stylish
- Idiosyncratic
- Reactionary
- Fickle

Social Climber

You want to be on top, and you know the way to get there is through the right connections. The purpose of this role is to play on self-advancement. To try and read the social dynamics of the detention centre and attempt to position yourself as advantageously as possible. Take this role to play on interpersonal dynamics and to use whatever skills you possess to get 'in' with the people who can help you most. Will everyone see through you? Will you end up more despised than if you had never tried this or will you make real friends?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: North West

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Original
- Selfless
- Smooth
- Sarcastic
- Submissive
- Money-minded

Martyr

This is a dangerous place, sensible people may keep their head down and avoid trouble but someone has to take a stand even if it means their own demise. Do you have the strength of conviction to stand against the tide no matter the cost?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Gardener

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: North West

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Sociable
- Farsighted
- Competitive
- Boyish
- Escapist
- Oppressed

Builder

You believe in stability, and solid construction. The purpose of this role is to consolidate what they can scavenge and build something new both physically and metaphorically. Play this character if you want to be a leader or a creative type working for the betterment of all around them.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Community outreach officer

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: East Midlands

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Popular
- Protective
- Stylish
- Enigmatic
- Destructive
- Sedentary

Joker

Your situation may be dire but humour is the best medicine. Play this character if you want to be the funny one, the person that others need to lighten the mood even at the most dire of times. How much does it cost to always put up a happy face?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: North West

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Leisurely

- High-minded
- Iconoclastic
- Guileless
- Insultin

Philosopher

Questioning the meaning of truth, existence and reality is what you do. The philosopher has an analytical and inquisitive mind. Pick this character to play someone who takes a step back and considers the meaning behind the writing on the wall. What is the true purpose of this facility? What does it really mean to be trapped inside it?

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Aircraft cleaning technician

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Creative

- Compassionate
- Soft
- Obedient
- Unstable
- Selfish

Visionary

You can always imagine a better purpose, and you know how to get people believing in it too. Pick this character to play the charismatic leader. What happens to a visionary in a place that crushes dreams?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Assistant cook

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Dont know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Adaptable
- Cerebral
- Ascetic
- Disturbing
- Obsessive

Champion

The purpose of this character is to highlight an issue, to raise it with the authorities and fight to change it. Once in the scenario, many inequalities will present themselves to you. Do you have what it takes to take up a cause, even if it seems impossible?

Class: Underclass

The underclass is the segment of the population that occupies the lowest possible position in a class hierarchy, below the core body of the working class. Essentially they can be seen as victims of the economic and social system. They make up the unemployed, the underskilled, and the poorly educated. In the Quota, the underclass will tend to be those who have existed outside of the benefits system and have found ways to supplement their income through criminal activity

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South East

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Athletic
- Neat
- Folksy
- Earthy
- Crafty
- Mawkish

Gambler

One way or the other, the gambler is always calculating odds, stacking the cards in their own favour, playing people against each other. Increase tensions and push people to focus on the testing and interviews, trying to influence each other and the guards, to play the game inside the facility. Pick this character if you wish to manipulate others, whilst calculating what is the best side to be on at any given moment.

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Mechanic

Voted For: UKIP

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The UK Independence Party (UKIP) is a Eurosceptic and right-wing populist political party in the United Kingdom. The pressure UKIP exerted on the government is widely regarded as the main reason for the 2016 referendum which led to the decision to withdraw from the European Union.

Ideologically positioned on the right-wing of British politics, political scientists characterise UKIP as part of a broader European radical right. UKIP's primary emphasis has been on Euroscepticism, It promotes a British unionist and British nationalist agenda, encouraging a unitary British identity in opposition to growing Welsh and Scottish nationalisms. UKIP has also placed strong emphasis on lowering immigration, rejecting multiculturalism, and opposing what it calls the Islamification of Britain. It distinguishes itself from the mainstream political establishment through heavy use of populist rhetoric, for instance through descriptions of its supporters as the People's Army.

Region: Yorkshire & The Humber

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Fun-loving
- Dignified
- Freewheeling
- Unfathomable
- Cynical
- Criminal

Individual

This character takes great steps to make sure they are different from others. Play this character if you want to push the limits of self-imposed isolation or a longing to be “unique.”

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Handyperson

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Scotland

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Steady
- Humble
- Mellow
- Skeptical
- Unstable
- Fraudulent

Inventor

The inventor is looking outside the box to make life easier for themselves and maybe others around them. With one improvement made they will be onto the next task, another opportunity to show how clever they are.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Studious
- Charismatic
- Impassive
- Reserved
- Dissolute
- Anxious

Chessplayer

There is always a game, always. You just have to find the right levers, pull them in the correct order and you can win. The chess player seeks to understand the system and beat it, whilst fellow characters may accept the unknown, you will strive to establish an order to it all.

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Receptionist

Voted For: UKIP

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The UK Independence Party (UKIP) is a Eurosceptic and right-wing populist political party in the United Kingdom. The pressure UKIP exerted on the government is widely regarded as the main reason for the 2016 referendum which led to the decision to withdraw from the European Union.

Ideologically positioned on the right-wing of British politics, political scientists characterise UKIP as part of a broader European radical right. UKIP's primary emphasis has been on Euroscepticism. It promotes a British unionist and British nationalist agenda, encouraging a unitary British identity in opposition to growing Welsh and Scottish nationalisms. UKIP has also placed strong emphasis on lowering immigration, rejecting multiculturalism, and opposing what it calls the Islamification of Britain. It distinguishes itself from the mainstream political establishment through heavy use of populist rhetoric, for instance through descriptions of its supporters as the People's Army.

Region: London

Football: Football hooligan

Possible Traits:

- Discreet
- Suave
- Unchanging
- Familial
- Thoughtless

Enchanter

There is a power to you. You know what you want and how to get people to want the same. Pick this character if you want to draw people in and create a pack of followers. There aren't that many games to play in this place, but you know how to run them.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Administrator

Voted For: UKIP

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The UK Independence Party (UKIP) is a Eurosceptic and right-wing populist political party in the United Kingdom. The pressure UKIP exerted on the government is widely regarded as the main reason for the 2016 referendum which led to the decision to withdraw from the European Union.

Ideologically positioned on the right-wing of British politics, political scientists characterise UKIP as part of a broader European radical right. UKIP's primary emphasis has been on Euroscepticism. It promotes a British unionist and British nationalist agenda, encouraging a unitary British identity in opposition to growing Welsh and Scottish nationalisms. UKIP has also placed strong emphasis on lowering immigration, rejecting multiculturalism, and opposing what it calls the Islamification of Britain. It distinguishes itself from the mainstream political establishment through heavy use of populist rhetoric, for instance through descriptions of its supporters as the People's Army.

Region: North West

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Agreeable
- Leaderly
- Strict
- Folksy
- Stupid
- Asocial

Diplomat

There is always a third option, the world of the diplomat may be one of peace or simply about finding the quickest resolution to a conflict. Pick this character if you wish to make deals both between groups within the facility and to try and negotiate your way through the quota process.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: Scotland

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Forthright
- Neat
- Tough
- Confidential
- Extravagant
- Fickle

Intriguer

You thrive on drama. Telling just the right version of the truth to make sure you get your way and someone else gets hurt. The purpose of this character is to plot and scheme. To create tension where there was none, and to fan the flames of any conflict. Will you push everyone away in the end?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Packer

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South West

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Scrupulous
- Multi-leveled
- Complex
- Big-thinking
- Brittle
- Asocial

Victim

The purpose of the victim is to be obviously weak in a way that provokes either the hostility or compassion of others. Pick this role if you want to play someone who doesn't have the strength to persevere on their own. Can you, with help, find the strength you need, or will you drag everyone down?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Front desk receptionist (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Scotland

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Reflective
- Efficient
- Stylish
- Solitary
- Inhibited
- Disloyal

Sycophant

The sycophant is plays up the strength of others, seeking protection with a currency of admiration and other small services. Pick this role if you want to attempt to exert influence from a position of weakness. Can you keep yourself safe in the absence of personal power?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Barista

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European

Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: North West

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Prudent
- Spontaneous
- Breezy
- Political
- Abrupt
- Obvious

Advisor

The advisor takes pleasure in guiding the actions of others. Aggregate the strengths of the group you find yourself in, either for their own good or your own. Pick this role to exert influence from the shadows. Can you guide people towards your objectives without taking on direct leadership and responsibility for them?

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Driver

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: London

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Compassionate
- Sage
- Private
- Progressive
- Opportunistic
- Regretful

Misfit

The purpose of this character is to introduce volatility to the larp. Play this role if you want to be the wild card. Your behaviour will be random, antagonistic and designed to seed chaos.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: North East

Football: Football hooligan

Possible Traits:

- Intuitive
- Invulnerable
- utral
- Impassive
- Plodding
- Unrealistic

Romeo

This character flits from one emotional high to the next. Furiously in love one day, onto another love the next. The purpose of this character is to have someone whose goal is in the chase not the victory. Pick this character to play someone who believes their intentions are sincere, but are not steady in their affection.

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Switchboard operator

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: West Midlands

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Curious
- Colorful
- Obedient
- Unreligious
- Inert
- Narcissistic

Dealmaker

There is always something someone wants and you know how to make it happen. Play this character if you want to engage in a busy and sometimes hectic race to balance the books whilst making personal gains.

Class: Precariat Working Class

The precariat, about 15 percent of British society They are the poorest class with very low household income, negligible savings, who usually rent. Typical occupations include cleaners, van drivers, care workers, carpenters and joiners, caretakers, leisure and travel service occupations, shopkeepers and proprietors, and retail cashiers.

The precariat is the poorest class with an average household income of £8,000, negligible savings. They usually rent. Few have attended university. The name is a reflection on the existence of a significant group characterised by high amounts of insecurity on all of measures of capital.

Job: Switchboard operator

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: London

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Self-denying
- Friendly
- Preoccupied
- Absentminded
- Gullible
- Scheming

Trickster

This character can be seen as cruel in some circumstances, a tendency to mess with other people for their own amusement will not make them many friends. Play this character if you wish to be a controversial figure pushing the boundaries of other detainees' tolerance.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: London

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Felicitic
- Adventurous
- Tough
- Ambitious
- Obvious
- Tense

Scholar

The scholar is someone who burrows into topics. Whether that means endless nights chasing information on Wikipedia or digging into old archives in university, this character has a drive for knowledge and understanding that cannot be stopped. Not even in here.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South East

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Sane
- Independent
- Breezy
- Chummy
- Meretricious
- Brittle

Charmer

A smooth talking person of action. When others may back down and admit defeat you will be there to smooth things over and bring others over to your way of thinking. The purpose of this character is to have someone who solves conflicts and soothes tensions. Pick this character to play someone who brings people together, even in dire circumstances.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: QA (Recently laid off)

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: London

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Teacherly
- Dutiful
- Unpatriotic
- Artful
- Miserly
- Asocial

Gang-Boss

An out and out violent thug, the gang boss will seek to build up a group around them, one made up of those who will follow their orders without question. Pick this character to play a bully and to push other characters to go beyond what they are comfortable with.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Executive Assistant

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Remain

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: East of England

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Attractive

- Skillful
- Absentminded
- Invisible
- Foolish
- Unimaginative

Snitch

Selfish beyond comprehension, the snitch wants to get by on pats on the head and the odd treat. The snitch delights in the trouble they cause by reporting on the activities of their fellow characters to the guards. Can you handle being hated by most and loved by none?

Class: Underclass

The underclass is the segment of the population that occupies the lowest possible position in a class hierarchy, below the core body of the working class. Essentially they can be seen as victims of the economic and social system. They make up the unemployed, the underskilled, and the poorly educated. In the Quota, the underclass will tend to be those who have existed outside of the benefits system and have found ways to supplement their income through criminal activity

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: East Midlands

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Allocentric
- Polished
- Stern
- Stolid
- Shy
- Uncharitable

Guilty

Provide the righteous with someone who deserves the blame. Pick this part to play someone who, at least in their own mind, has done something terrible enough to explain their current suffering. Do you really deserve no better? What brought you to this state?

Class: Emergent Service

The emergent service sector, about 19 percent of British society, shows relatively poor economic capital, but reasonable household income, moderate social contacts, a high degree of cultural engagement in youthful musical, sporting and internet activities, but highbrow cultural capital is low. Typical occupations include bar staff, chefs, nursing auxiliaries and assistants, assemblers and routine operatives, care workers, elementary storage occupations, customer service occupations, musicians. Emergent service sector workers are relatively young with an average age of 34. Few are graduates or come from middle-class families

Job: Receptionist (Unemployed)

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Remain

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South West

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Intuitive
- Forgiving
- Aggressive
- Proud
- Reactionary
- Coarse

Fatalist

You are the voice of hopelessness. The one who has, for good reason, convinced themselves that there is no happy ending to be had for anyone. Pick this part if you want to push people to give into despair and to provide others with someone to argue against if they want to keep believing. What is the cost to you of always keeping hope at arm's length?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: London

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Good-natured
- Gracious
- Unaggressive
- Authoritarian
- Erratic
- Superficial

Coward

You are the weak link, the counterpoint to those who try to find strength in adversity. Pick this part if you want to huddle close to someone stronger or if you want to cower in fear of what's to come. Will you find someone to give you hope, or will you end up doing things you never thought yourself capable of, just to survive?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Community outreach officer

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: East Midlands

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Caring
- Decisive
- Dry
- Maternal
- Sordid
- Childish

Stranger

The stranger is the ultimate loner and discontent. Pick this part if you wish to play a character standing on the side of society, not fitting in. Having never felt at home anywhere, how do you feel inside a facility that makes everyone feel out of sync?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Production Analyst

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Remain

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: South West

Football: Football hooligan

Possible Traits:

- Charismatic
- Active
- Aggressive
- Unreligious
- Brittle
- Silly

Mouse

The Mouse is the unseemingly gossipy and sneaky. Someone staying under the radar who is able to snatch moments of victory through whispering the right lies, or truths, in the right ears. Pick this character if you wish to slink between the different groups in the detention centre, avoiding direct conflict whilst trying to gain favours for yourself.

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Labour

EU Referendum: Hard Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South West

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Articulate
- Sympathetic
- Glamorous
- Undemanding
- Mealy Mouthed

Conformer

You are desperate to fit in. You have always done your best to belong in society and encouraged others to do the same. Will you conform inside the detention centre as well, or will the prison break you? What will you become if your desire to confirm radically shifts?

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Shift production supervisor

Voted For: Conservative
EU Referendum: Remain

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: South East

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Magnanimous
- Scrupulous
- Emotional
- Pure
- Dogmatic
- Ridiculous

Cynic

The purpose of the cynic is to provide resistance to those trying to hold on to a fool's hope. To critique and sarcastically point out the flaws in the system that makes it inherently unfair. The cynic sees the truth in the system and knows how hopeless the situation. Are you only in it for yourself?

Class: Middle Class

Members of the middle class, about 31 percent of British society, reported high economic capital, high status of mean social contacts, and both highbrow and high emerging cultural capital. Many are graduates, and a majority of their members work in the professions or management. Many originated from professional and managerial families. There are some ethnic minorities. They can be fairly described as comfortably off, secure, and established.

Job: Military

Voted For: Labour
EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Labour Party is a centre-left political party in the United Kingdom. It has been described as a broad church, bringing together an alliance of social-democratic, socialist and trade-unionist outlooks. The party's platform emphasises greater state intervention, social justice and strengthening workers' rights. Labour is a full member of the Party of European

Socialists and Progressive Alliance, and holds observer status in the Socialist International. Labour is currently the Official Opposition in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, having won the second-largest number of seats in the 2017 general election. The Labour Party is currently the largest party in the Welsh Assembly, forming the main party in the current Welsh government.

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Conciliatory
- Constant
- Old-fashioned
- Paternalistic
- Selfish
- Loquacious

Nihilist

The world has no meaning. You might revel in this, or be crushed by it. The purpose of the nihilist is to have someone who points out uncomfortable truths and drives others to question their hopes and dreams. Pick this character to explore what you become when the world around you conform to your nihilist principles.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: Office Manager

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Remain

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: London

Football: Ultra fan of a football team

Possible Traits:

- Protean
- Hardworking
- Dreamy
- Guileless
- Unstable
- Irascible

Malcontent

You have never fit in anywhere, so why should the detention centre be any different? The purpose of this character is to have someone inside the detention centre who takes out their negative energy and emotions on friend and foe alike. Pick this character if you wish to play a lonely larp, maliciously fighting yourself and everyone else.

Class: Affluent Working Class

The affluent working class, about 15 percent of British society, show moderately good economic capital, relatively poor status of social contacts, though highly varied, and moderate highbrow but good emerging cultural capital. Typical occupations include electricians and electrical fitters; postal workers; retail cashiers and checkout operatives; plumbers and heating and ventilation engineers; sales and retail assistants; housing officers; kitchen and catering assistants; quality assurance technicians. They tend to come from non-middle-class families, and few have been to university. 57 percent are men.. Many are young people in white collar and blue collar jobs in the private sector and in customer facing occupations.

Job: QA

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: Scotland

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Sweet
- Relaxed
- Mystical
- Solemn
- Weak-willed
- Phlegmatic

Dogmatic

The Dogmatic has faith in a system above all else. They lay down their set of principles as undeniably true. Pick this character to enforce your views on the world and everyone around you, and to play someone who is convinced they are right. What happens when your beliefs are challenged?

Class: On benefits

Less than 1% of families are workless and have not worked for two generations. Those on benefits are reliant on the welfare state for their income either because they can't work, can't get work or in rare cases choose not to work.

Job: Unemployed

Voted For: Did Not Vote

EU Referendum: Don't know

Some people did not vote for any political party, they have not engaged with the politics of the country in which they live, either because they do not care or do not understand

Region: South East

Football: Football supporter

Possible Traits:

- Perceptive
- Efficient
- Outspoken
- Familial
- Haughty
- Uncooperative

Unionist

A unionist is someone who wants to unite the people, because they believe that through unity they will have more power. Play this character if you want to play someone who is seeking to unite others, possibly even as their leader. Together we are strong.

Class: Upper Class

Members of the elite upper class are the top six percent of British society with very high economic capital (particularly savings), high social capital, and very high highbrow cultural capital. Occupations such as chief executive officers, IT and telecommunications directors, marketing and sales directors; functional managers and directors, judges, lawyers (barristers and solicitors), accountants, financial managers, doctors, dentists, and advertising and public relations directors were strongly represented. Few are ethnic minorities; many are graduates, and over half come from families who were also in the elite class. Graduates of elite universities are over-represented, in particular from Oxford, Cambridge, Birkbeck, King's College London, University College London, London School of Economics, Durham, Imperial College and Queen Mary. They are primarily located within London and the Home Counties.

Job: Military

Voted For: Conservative

EU Referendum: Soft Brexit

The Conservative Party is a centre-right political party in the United Kingdom. It is currently the governing party, having been so since the 2010 general election. The Conservative Party is one of the two major contemporary political parties in the United Kingdom, the other being its modern rival, the Labour Party.

Region: South East

Football: no interest in football

Possible Traits:

- Helpful
- sensitive
- Confidential
- Conservative
- Contemptible
- Disorderly