Here's your new tail!

Some assembly required!

- See the included instruction sheet to see how to put your tail together.

Patterning/furring recommendations

- Cover the tail in duct tape, just as you would for a normal foam tail.
  - Trace your markings onto it, and transfer to fabric.
  - For maximum tail motion, you may want to leave a small amount of extra seam allowance.

Care instructions

- When not in use, hang your tail up, lay it flat, or disassemble it.
- Try not to leave your tail in very hot places (like a car during summer).
  - These heat-resistant plastics won't melt, but may temporarily deform.
  - TPU plastic has memory properties. If your tail does develop wrinkles from being compressed, run a warm hair dryer over the plastic to help it regain its original shape.
  - Be careful using hair dryers or other heating elements on your tail once it has fur on it. Fur fabric usually isn't resistant to direct heat like that.
- To wash, rinse in a bathtub with cool water, and hang dry upside down so water drips out.
- Wear often and have fun!
