
Dear Sir,

To start with, it would be ideal if you acknowledge our welcome from our establishment.

You know, throughout the previous nine years, our establishment has been eagerly arranging this national-level contextual analysis rivalry. Additionally, we accept this open door to offer our thanks to establishments like yours for taking an interest in the occasion and making it a triumph. Indeed, the opportunity has arrived when we begin arranging the contextual analysis challenge this year. This year we are welcoming around 250 schools to make the challenge all the more intriguing.

Once more, this year as well, it gives us incredible joy to welcome your school to partake in the challenge by and by. We anticipate your dynamic cooperation to make the occasion a noteworthy one.

Similarly as with earlier years this year, too we have kept the group size as three for the understudy and 2 for the resources. You can experience the subtleties in the connected roundabout.

Much obliged and respects,

Regards

Michael
