January 5, 2019 Update

as mentioned elsewhere, the best way to understand its “simplest & most complex” BALANCE by practice (anything, tiniest to biggest) - in this case, is WHY Scandinavian countries do well? & why their successes can not SIMPLY be duplicated elsewhere? (i guess we gotta look closely at their histories in term of how they learn & apply the word “balance”, kinda “in their blood” - btw, this “BALANCE knowledge” is the most VALUABLE “resource” they “own” - in recent “political change” there, they gotta protect it at all cost, for long term survival as a country) > one of the most notable example of how well Norway apply “balance” in how to handle its oil resource (their current $ value from oil now is over 1 trillion $USD for a population of ~5 million) - i heard on CBC radio that their “basis” is only a few pages long & they never stray from it > in contrast, how poorly Venezuela, Saudi Arabia... (fill in your own) > well, also in Alberta (Canada) - Jason Kenney (not being premier yet) arrogantly said to other Canadian provinces: "don't bite the hand that feeds you" (as if he "OWNS" it) - and some of the most STUPID "political events": blaming someone else (PM Trudeau...) for ALL the problems: low oil price, delay in building pipelines... - after a few decades of oil sand developments (few trillion $USD)... why Alberta can NOT figure out these most OBVIOUS problems it has, something is VERY FISHY here <> btw, these people are NOT "very Canadian" (i wonder "who they really are???") > one more thing: no identity (individual, party, nation...) can SURVIVE if TRUTH is not VALUED - one may "gain something now" - but balance says: "lose MUCH MORE later" a tiny little story in <late September / early October> 2015 => 4more: the silent conversation > i did lot of tweets on Canadian 2015 federal election, but stopped a few days b/f Sep 17 (no tweet on anything) > i did not pay any attention to the election since (ofcourse, my mind may wander about it sometimes) > b/c ONE time during the silent conversation period (Sep 17, 2015 - early 2016) the silent voice says:

“stay away from federal politics” & “tennet must win!”

> hearing this, i just did NOT understand - except “stay away from federal politics” literally... well, i-did-!

> another peculiar thing was that the Liberal candidate in the riding where i reside named “Tennet” - but she lost > by early October, when turning my only laptop on, but it appeared to be dead (not even started or showed anything) > but by late November, my laptop “just simply worked again” (i did NOT even try to “fix it” or thought of buying a new one) - just about in time for my active tweeting on #cop21 (twitter) - starting November 30th, 2015

> note that “i” DID use “tennet (content) & txenet (context)” terms- and used frequently in my core tweets b/f Sep 17 > well, i still wp-ondring about “the !EXECUTIVE? order” ...

> btw, “the sound of silence” lyrics by Simon & Garfunkel (oh! i loved the tune & lyrics of this song a long time ago?)

> 1 more thing, out of the blue, the silent voice comments:

“you have a great taste in music”

> well, i myself never consider to be so & still do not - i always think that i am just a “regular music listener”, like certain musical things by just...listening & re-listening...with variations... & it's BEST when listening ALONE > never thought of writing anything about my ordinarily personal “musical journey in life”...but since the silent voice mentions it, i gotta tell “a little musical story” (in “ref” section) as per kinda silent insistance, i guess!
