Organization Backstory (Min. of 250+ Words & any images):

In 1410 a small Settlement officially a part of the Holy Roman Empire and did not support the Order against Poland. Instead some of the The Knights who wore white surcoats with a black cross had fled more north and escaped the polish advances and moved toward the region of Brandenburg.

The knights had regrouped with a huge army accompanied by Ulrich von Jungingen and assaulted the polish lines and liberated Preußen Territory after the hard fought battle. The command within the knighthood had died the soldiers had fled into the wilderness of Latvia and had set up a german colony.

1593 The Soldiers were called to arms by the state of Courland and moved south to help push back the Polish out of Prussia. When Prussia was defeated the remnants of the former knights moved to Brandenburg region to set up multiple towns and protected lordships.

until 1955 when they were called to become Cavalry men to liberate some Prussian territories during the 17 hundreds to liberate former Teutonic lands. They had settled there in the region over time they showed their ineptitude toward the Prussian military and were called into service.

They went to the front against France officially raising the banner of Prussian noblemen with men a part of a unit of Prussian hussars they had fought France until they had entered Paris in 1870. The men of the hussar group officially called themselves the last knights of the Teutonic order; they had joined the German Empire during World War 1 and World War 2.

Due to the order fighting in both the east and west it was split up into multiple groups the Preußen Konklave and other unknown organizations due to the mass burning of German documents and books by the Russians when the organization heard of the Russians defiling their German heritage and territories they had fled to America and formed the Preußens Dornen. In the 1950s doing small operations to collect small amounts of wealth bit by bit until now.
