

Clay Kollinger

Infinite Loop Reflection

Like the Drone Logo the Infinite Loop project was another easy thirty minute activity, It required little time and I only ran into one problem during my design. The video was simple and easy to follow and I had no problem with the first few parts. When I got to making the shadows my the cross in the middle did not line up perpendicular when I rotated the design. This caused the video to become obsolete. Instead of moving multiple nodes at a time I had to do each node separately so the squares would line up properly. While this wasn't the most challenging thing to do it was still irating to have to adjust everything separately. Besides that nothing else went wrong and it was a simple assignment.