

Student Guide to Copyleaks Assignments, Forums, and Quizzes

Copyleaks is a tool instructors can use to automatically scan students' posts and documents for potential plagiarism in Moodle Activities and Forums. Once your instructor has created a Moodle Assignment or Forum activity with Copyleaks settings enabled, you can submit and your instructor can grade your submission(s). Review the normal steps for submitting to the Moodle assignment or posting to the Moodle forum, as applicable.

Viewing Your Plagiarism Report

After you have submitted to the Moodle Assignment or Forum, you will be able to see the submission on the activity page. Your instructor may scan the submission for plagiarized content and, depending on your instructor's settings, you may be able to view the report for your own submission. Again, depending on your instructor's settings, the report may not be generated until the due date of the activity.

1. While Copyleaks is scanning your submission, you should see it say "Scan is in progress" for the Moodle Assignment submission or Forum post.

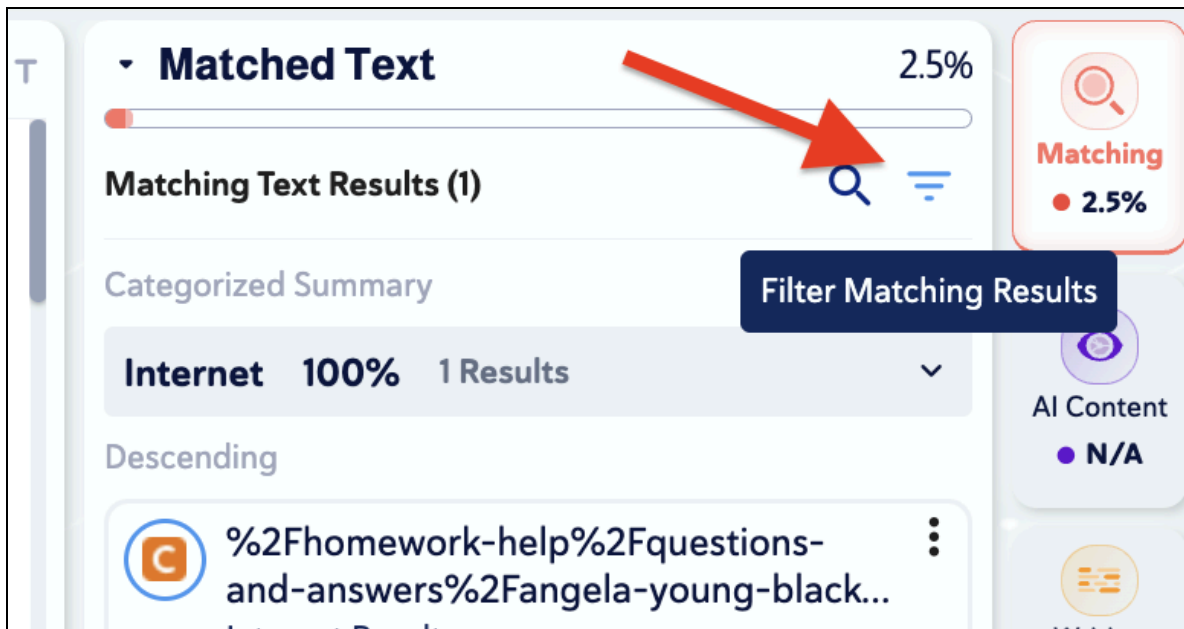

2. Once a scan is complete, the scores will be displayed next to your Moodle Assignment submission or Forum post. You may need to refresh your browser to see the scores populate. The higher the score, the higher the percentage of the submission that is potentially plagiarized, according to the scanner. To view a submission's report, click the icon in the middle above the score, as indicated below.

3. This will open the report in a new tab. If you have multiple submissions or posts, there will be a separate score and report for each submitted file or text.

A screenshot of a plagiarism report interface. The top bar shows 'Jun 26, 2025 at 12:00AM' and 'Export PDF Report'. The main area is titled 'Study_Assignment_5.pdf (2,980 words)'. It contains a paragraph of text: 'Discuss Angela's level of development according to the various theories presented in the chapter. In the early stages of Perry's model, students tend to think in terms of absolutes (right or wrong, black or white). Through her religious upbringing, Angela likely started at this dualistic stage. She believed that morality and goodness are strongly tied to religious beliefs (e.g., believing that only religious people are truly "moral"). As Angela enters college, she is exposed to diverse ideas and perspectives, particularly through her experiences with Jen. This challenges her dualistic thinking and forces her to'. On the right, there's a 'Matched Text' sidebar showing a '2.5%' match rate. It lists 'Matching Text Results (1)' and a 'Categorized Summary' for 'Internet' with '100% 1 Results'. A specific match is shown from 'chegg.com/homework-help/questions-and-answers...' with a '2.5%' match rate. On the far right, there are buttons for 'Matching' (2.5%), 'AI Content' (N/A), and 'Writing Assist.' (N/A).

- a. The Plagiarism Report will indicate the scan properties. These include how recently the scan was completed, the number of results found, the number of similar words, the level of similarity found in the submission to other sources (identical, minor changes, related meaning, and omitted words), and the percentage of the content that matched other sources.
- b. Clicking the menu underneath the matching percentage score (showed below) will allow you to filter the matching text results based on the type of match.

What aspects of her adjustment are particularly difficult for her?

Since transitioning to college, Angela has had some adjustment issues in multiple areas that have been difficult caused by multiple reasons. These include navigating religious and moral differences with her roommate, dealing with the emotional complexity of her evolving worldview, and managing the tension between independence and familial expectations. The key challenge is reconciling her religious upbringing with the realities of her new environment, particularly her relationship with Jen. Doing so would force Angela to question her beliefs about

The key challenge is reconciling her religious upbringing with the realities of her new environment, particularly her relationship with Jen. Doing so would force Angela to question her beliefs about morality, faith, and friendship.

In navigating religious and moral differences in college, Angela's challenge stems from her encounters with Jen. Jen's lifestyle and worldview contrasts with Angela's deeply held beliefs that she was taught growing up. To Angela, morality and ethical behavior are closely
