

PhD in Project Management,
Minor in Ministry-Based Project Management
HBI University

Course Duration: 3 years

Credit Hours: 105

Program Description

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Project Management at HBIU University is designed to equip students with advanced research, leadership, and implementation skills in the field of project management. This program focuses on both theoretical frameworks and practical applications, providing students with the tools to manage complex projects effectively. Students will study various aspects of project management, including strategic planning, resource allocation, risk management, and performance evaluation, ensuring they are prepared to lead and innovate in business, nonprofit, government, and technical sectors.

The Minor in Ministry-Based Project Management specialization offers a unique focus on managing projects within faith-based and ministry organizations. This specialization explores key topics such as project management for religious and community outreach initiatives, stewardship, volunteer management, and ethical leadership in ministry settings. Students will learn how to apply project management principles to create sustainable, mission-driven projects that align with the values and goals of faith-based organizations, preparing them for leadership roles in churches, ministries, and nonprofit religious organizations.
