

The Imperial forces of Light

The elder unto the elect lady and her children, whom I love in the truth; Just as the Catholic clan elder can trace his succession by the laying on of hands back to the elder and apostle Peter; the Orthodox clan elder can trace his succession by the laying on of hands back to the elder and apostle John. The Orthodox clan elder is Russian Orthodox and he is the most feared man in the kingdom. Clan elders have a very small social circle so when someone new is introduced to them they are given strict instructions on how to act in their presence. Clan elders are known for making lesser men go insane simply by staring at them in a certain way so under no circumstances are you ever to look these men directly in the eyes as it would be seen as a great sign of disrespect. The one time I attended the high council session, the Orthodox clan elder sat on the right hand of the Catholic clan elder. When I looked towards the Catholic clan elder I was very careful to only stare at the large platinum cross around his neck. And when I looked towards the Orthodox clan elder I was very careful to only stare at the panagia and encolpion around his neck but even in doing this I could tell that there was a strong bluish glow that came from his eyes. In the dim torch-lit high council chamber with the smoky smell of God's presence in the room, he was truly terrifying to behold. One of the attributes of Christ in his true form is that his eyes glow like lamps of fire (Rev. 1:14) and this trait is seen in high ranking clan members especially the clan elders. The Orthodox clan elder with the glowing blue eyes indicated that he was filled with the power and grace of God.

After the high council session I was introduced to the Catholic clan elder and the Orthodox clan elder in the hall of statues. I barely survived my encounter with the Catholic clan elder and when they saw I was still alive they introduced me to the Orthodox clan elder. He looked at me with his glowing blue eyes and said, is this the man who started the lying legend about St. Chrysostomos that he impregnated a princess and then threw her over a cliff to cover up his deeds? And one of his servants said - Yes, this is the man and the elder's countenance began to turn evil towards me. I instantly ran over to the statue of St. Chrysostomos and knelt before it and renounced my Lutheran upbringing. Then I renounced Arminius, Luther and Calvin the anti-trinity of evil. After this I raised my hands to heaven and implored the Holy Trinity and Holy Mary to bless the Holy Catholic church and the Holy Orthodox church to join their strength and power together to stamp out the scourge of Protestantism once and for all. Finally, I praised St. Chrysostomos as one of the greatest saints and cursed Martin Luther the arch-heretic and ever so slowly I looked towards the Orthodox clan elder. And the man who never smiles cracked a smile indicating that he had accepted my penitence. After this the elders left the room and his servant came over to me and said, you belong to the Orthodox Faith now. You will defend the One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic Church and will wage relentless war against all schismatics and liberals. To maim, crush, exterminate and annihilate Protestant Liberalism from the earth. Now go bow to the statue of St. Nicholas and finish your penance.

Imperial forces of Light

The Imperial forces of Light are the armed forces of the kingdom of love. Imperial soldiers can often be seen on the battlefield while their angels, though hidden, remain close by to give them skill and cunning in defeating the wiles of the enemy. A terrifying new weapon, codenamed the DEATH QUEEN has been created to destroy the evil Rebel alliance once and for all. The Imperial forces are arrayed under the banner of the Bride of Christ. On this banner the bride is displayed prominently and in each variation she reflects a different color of the rainbow. All Imperial soldiers start out under the red banner of God's compassion with the forces being arrayed in the shape of a pyramid. The vast majority are at the lower ranks and only an elect few at the highest ranks. After mastering the trait of compassion they move to the orange banner of grace or graciousness. Next is the yellow of patience or long-suffering and then the green of God's mercy. Mercy differs from compassion in that compassion is more of a loving feeling towards someone whereas mercy can be shown to those we may have no love for. Blue is the banner of truth and standing for truth under all circumstances and then the indigo of God's forgiveness. Imperial soldiers must learn to always forgive their enemies before they can move to the 7th and final banner of vengeance or the purple trait of God's wrath. There was once a story of a man who progressed quickly through the ranks and upon reaching the purple banner he himself was quickly devoured by the wrath of God. God's wrath devours sin wherever found even if it is found in a soldier of light.

Angels and men under the purple banner are collectively known as the Angel of death and Skeleton soldiers. There are seven angels and some 30 to 40 men under the purple banner with the men being the anti-type of David's mighty men of old so their numbers are kept close to the original. The skeleton represents that these men are totally dead to the world and have no real will of their own. When God has a thought these soldiers act it out in real-time. The original mighty men were given supernatural abilities in combat and this is also true for skeleton soldiers. Skeleton soldiers have supernatural strength and endurance. They are given a spiritual camouflage which enables them to go in and out of any environment they choose. And they also have the gift of levitation which can be used for themselves or others. Skeleton soldiers serve in advisory and overseer roles, frontline combat and sometimes they are called to execute vengeance on those who have sinned greatly against the LORD. Those who were once filled mightily with the Holy Spirit and then fall away to whatever sin are often paid a visit by a skeleton soldier. They are made to feel the pain they have brought to the infinite and tender heart of the Almighty. Before a skeleton soldier comes fully online they go through a startup procedure which is very difficult to describe. They will make convulsive movements with popping and clicking sounds in some unknown language. This display is meant to terrify those in their immediate presence and if you were ever going to take one out this would be the time before all of their abilities and powers come fully online.

Death Queens are female skeleton soldiers. Death Queens have all the abilities of their male counterparts with the added ability of an enhanced sexuality which is their most powerful weapon. Death Queens are attractive women but they are not overly attractive like a supermodel. The true power of a Death Queen lies with the Spirit that is within her which can often be subtle and deceptive. There are four known Death Queens with three being the wives of the clan elders and the fourth is over all three house queens. The SUPREME Death Queen who affectionately goes by the nickname of 'pumpkin' is the most feared woman in all of the Imperial forces. She once attacked a fellow skeleton soldier simply for not noticing and complimenting her brand new boots which she had just purchased. This woman is just some kind of an animal in human female form who sees all men as toys created by God solely for her amusement. The Master Skeleton who goes by the nickname of 'dopey' had a run-in with her back when she was just a teenager. She was so crazy even back then that he thought she was possessed by a demon and tried to take her out. Pumpkin' pulled out a spirit knife and broke it off in the back of his neck and nearly killed him. He managed to keep his wits about him and feigned like he had fallen in love with her which was just enough to knock her off her game so that he could take a death strike. The strike was so clean and devastating that 'pumpkin' is still a psychotic mess to this very day. This is also the reason why she is the odds-on favorite to take down 'dopey' in any (Round 2) Skelequeen Deathmatch®™

The feeding of the Death Queen is a sacred occasion in the kingdom. When the time comes they will construct a glass cage which is 4 inches thick similar to what you would see in a wrestling pay per view event. There is only one door in or out of the cage and once the Death Queen and her victim are inside it is impossible for either to escape. The Death Queen can use all of her powers and abilities against the man and the man can use all of his powers and abilities to defend himself. In the one feeding that I personally witnessed, the Death Queen transformed into some kind of grotesque and hideous monster where her head actually enlarged to three times its normal size. The closest comparison I can make is that of pac-man shape that was overly round and when she opened her mouth there was row after row of razor sharp teeth. The man urinated and defecated on himself and barely put up a fight before he was slowly devoured piece by piece by the Death Queen. Often the Death Queen will go through many men before she finds a suitable mate. I am told that the fighting style and ability and even the taste of the flesh determines who will be chosen. Death Queens have the power of resurrection similar to Christ and the Apostles but she can only use it once in her lifetime. All the current clan elders at one point in their lives were in the cage with their Death Queen and devoured by them. Later after they were digested and excreted the residue was used with some kind of incantation to bring them back from the dead. The feeding of the Death Queen is meant to graphically illustrate the great biblical truth of the man shall be joined unto his wife and they two shall become one flesh.
