Overall plot

Let me finish this. You guys can always comment or suggest ideas once it's done. Plz don't edit directly or erase anything before the rest of the group confirms it.

This is the stuff from the posts

So remember that smile dip dog (the Beast)? Turns out he's just as powerful as Bill Cipher. What if the Beast escapes the Theraprism and tries to enter Gravity Falls (for the same reason Bill did) about 2 years after Weirdmagedon, just when the twins are coming back to meet their Grunkles. The Axolotl sees this as an opportunity for Bill to right his wrongs and sends him back to Gravity Falls to help the Pines defeat the Beast, with one caveat, Bill can not use his powers on anyone other than the Beast. Now, you may be thinking, why did the Smile dip Dog break out right when the 2 sets of twins returned? Turns out, the human energy circuit (the symbols on the cipher wheel) can be used as a source of power, and the Beast can use it as a key to become just as powerful as the Axolotl. So after a bit of getting punched, kicked, and beaten, Bill convinces them that he's telling the truth, and this is confirmed when the henchmaniacs, who decided to join the Beast, launch an attack. The 10 wheel members break off into 2 groups so that they can't be used if one group is captured, but still have a fighting chance when the Beast comes for them. Let's say group A is Dipper, Stan, McGucket, Pacifica, Soos, and Wendy. Group B is Mabel, Ford, Gideon, Robbie, and Tambry who decided to stick by Robbie and fight back against the Beast. Group A gets taken by the henchmaniacs, and because Bill fears what would happen if the Beast became as powerful as the axolotl, Bill joins Group B to go rescue them.

Here are some interesting things we can explore with this concept:

- How Dipper and Mabel take charge and find their place inside a group without each other's support and company. They've always been by each other's side. What happens when they can't?
- Ford and Mabel's dynamic
- Dipper and McGucket working together to create mechs to fight against the Beast.
- Stan leading a group.
- Bill having to work with people instead of people working for him.
- Bill growing as a character through interacting with Mabel, Ford, Robbie, and Tambry. Not full on redemption, but character growth.
- Tambry as a character, as well as her relationship with Robbie. She can also be a figure that Mabel seeks out for advice. Like Wendy.
- We could give Robbie zombie summoning powers. Like he plays his guitar and summons zombies. We can also see his character grow, and his character dynamic with Mabel, who's the polar opposite of him, would be fun.

- Bill and Mabel, a literal riot.
- Bill and Ford. Exploring the aftermath of a toxic and abusive relationship. Might have to do research for this part because of how sensitive it is.
- Dipper and Pacifica.
- Wendy's dynamic with Stan, as well as her defending the group (especially McGucket who has no self preservation).
- The Smile Dip Dog provides an entire new world to explore!
- New ways of using the zodiac. If it can be used as a power source by the Beast, The crew can use it to power a weapon.
- Soos helps lil'Gideon become a better person.
- The Beast as a character would be a fun one to write.

Anyway, these are some things you guys could potentially think about if we're all 100% willing to go with my idea.

We give Tambry a character arc? She's one of my favourite side characters aside from Gompers, and she never gets enough screen time. (As in, on the show, not on her phone (she gets TOO much screen time in that case))

The first "episode" (they're more like comics really) opens with the theraprism. We enter the facility to see red lights flashing in the halls, with security guards and soothing light balls rushing around. In the midst of this is Bill Cipher, looking very confused. He walks down the hall of the maximum security wing, to ask the other inmate what's happening, only to find it broken and empty. The Beast has escaped.

The Pines family return to gravity falls, to meet up with all of their friends and enjoy the summer. The first half of the episode is spent everybody having a happy reunion, with Soos showing off his newborn (remember in thisisnotawebsitedotcom when he said that some Sooslets might be on the way), the grunkles talking about their adventures, Mabel and Dipper talking to Wendy about their first year of high school, etc. A much bigger Waddles accompanies them.

Back at the theraprism, the Axolotl tells Bill about his mission to retrieve/defeat the Beast and gives him back his powers with the condition that they can't work on anyone but the Beast and his cohort. Bill is then zapped back to earth.

Bill returns to Gravity Falls and realizes that his powers are still the same as post-weirdmageddon, gets beat up and realizes he can't use them on anyone there. Mabel has a dream where she gets hunted and everyone is finally convinced. After this they break off into the aforementioned groups and we get going.

Group A with Dipper, Stan, Wendy, Pacifica, Gideon, McGucket, and Soos leave Gravity Falls to defend it from the outside, with Soos leaving Melody and his kid(s) behind for their safety. Group B with Mabel, Ford, Robbie, and Tambry take Bill and set off to defeat the Beast (There is a reason the groups are broken like this, both inside outside the show). Group A gets captured by the henchmaniacs, and now Group B is trying to both defeat the Beast and save their friends. Group B is trying to escape and defeat the Beast from the inside.

The portal is reopened and Group B sets off in a ship, and a portion of the show is spent following this plot. Eventually, Group A escapes and explodes the HQ. They are now on the run. In this third of the show, Group B finds out how the cipher wheel can be used to defeat the Beast while Group A fights the henchmaniacs and tries to get back to Gravity Falls.

In the last third, the groups reunite, and Ford tells them all about how they can use the Wheel as a power source for a weapon that can defeat the beast. I'm still considering this portion, and how to execute it while wrapping up all the character arcs. I'll get back to you with this since I do have an idea. You guys can consider this too.

That's kinda what we have so far. I'll edit this into a c

Ok so what are we gonna do about the theme song? I think we should make a remix, I can play an instrument so that could work :3

Uh guys, we agreed to make this as more of a comic turned into

We still can add music and sound effects :D

Uh I can play flute if you need that

Slayyy I play clarinet so we can do a woodwind remix, also I have a guitar and a ukulele and one of those annoying plastic whistles

I play recorder:3

What an excellent occurrence :D so, will we all play the melody and record it? I can edit them all together if needed

I play child :D

what

How do you play a child

BeGayDoWitchcraft's Ideas (feel free to edit this or add suggestions!)

We start with mabel, dipper and waddles on the bus. Mabel is bouncing up and down in her seat, hugging a chunky waddles and squealing "218 minutes! 217 minutes!" as we pan down to dipper. He is writing in a notebook, (i'm thinking muted, dark blue, thick like the originals and with sticky notes on the front. A gold pine tree symbol. ) and we get a look at what he's writing. It says:

May 27th (idk) Back to Gravity Falls! I can't believe it's been so long. I'll be excited to see everyone again- Soos, Wendy, the Grunkles, Candy and Grenda, Pacifica... Especially Pacifica. (Dipcifica will be in here don't you dare try to change my mind) I'm going to use this journal to document everything I see- although I might run out of space if this summer's anything like the last, heh.

Dipper continues writing as we zoom out, and we have one of those classic time skips where the sky fades from blue to purple. The speedy beaver coach pulls over, and we see stan and ford waving, stan wearing mabel's goodbye sweater. Candy and grenda are also there, squealing muffled
