NARRATOR: In ancient times, the land lay covered in forests, where from ages long past dwelt the spirits of the Gods. Back then, man and beast lived in harmony. But as time went by, most of the great forests were destroyed. Those that remained were guarded by gigantic beasts, who owed their allegiance to the Great Forest Spirit. For those were the days of Gods and of Demons.

ASHITAKA: Yakkul, come on boy. Girls!

KAYA: Ashitaka!

ASHITAKA: There's something strange going on. You have to hurry. The Wise Woman wants everybody back to the village at once.

KAYA: We just came from Jousan.

ASHITAKA: Did he see something?

KAYA: Yes, in the forest. Something's wrong!

GIRL 1: The birds have all gone!

GIRL 2: And the animals too!

ASHITAKA: I'll go to the watch (1)_____ and check with Jousan. Now you three hurry back home, and be quick about it.

KAYA: All right. Be careful!

[The three girls run off towards the village as Ashitaka continues onto the watchtower. Jumping from Yakkul's back, he grabs hold of a ladder run and starts climbing up to the top of the tower. Halfway up, he pauses and looks out into the forest by the tower.]

ASHITAKA: Something's there... [A close up shows tons of purple worms jumping about. Ashitaka continues climbing the tower until he reaches the top where old Jousan is sitting looking off into the forest.]

Jousan, did you (2)_____ it too?

JOUSAN: I did. It isn't (3)_____ .

ASHITAKA: The Wise Woman's calling everybody back to the (4)_____ .

[Jousan points into the forest.]

JOUSAN: There, look! [Ashitaka pulls an arrow from his pack and notches it onto his bow, pulling the string tight. He watches a rock wall, where a slimy substance is leaking through the cracks. The substance retreats, but then a large creature with red eyes and its body covered in thousands of purple worms bursts through the wall and heads towards the tower.] It's some kind of demon!

ASHITAKA: A (5)_____ ?

DEMON: Grahhhh!!

[The worms shoot off the demon, revealing a brown boar. The worms return and cover the boar and also take on a different shape as it heads towards the watchtower.]

ASHITAKA: Run, Yakkul! Run! [Yakkul stands frozen with fear, staring at the demon. Ashitaka fires his arrow into one of the tower supports next to Yakkul, which snaps the elk out of his frozen stance. Yakkul runs off out of the way as the demon crashes into the tower. Ashitaka grabs Jousan and jumps from the tower into a tree as the whole structure collapses. The demon continues on as if nothing happened.] It's headed for the village. I've got to stop it!

[Ashitaka jumps from the tree onto the ground, leaving Jousan in the tree.]

JOUSAN: Prince Ashitaka! Wait! Be (6)_____ , that thing is cursed! Don't let it (7)_____ you!

[Ashitaka runs to the top of the hill and pauses to restring his bow.]

ASHITAKA: Here, Yakkul! *whistle [Yakkul runs to Ashitaka who jumps onto him and starts down the hill and through a forest, following the demon. In the forest, Ashitaka manages to get in front of the demon.] Calm your fury, oh mighty Lord! Whatever you may be! God or demon! Please leave us in peace!

[They burst from the forest, where the demon stops and turns to the three girls who are quickly heading towards the village. He charges towards them, as they start to run.]

GIRL 1: The monster!

KAYA: Come on!

[Ashitaka maneuvers himself back in front of the demon.]

ASHITAKA: Go back! Please, leave our village alone! Stop, please!

(8)_____!

[One of the girls trip and fall.]

GIRL 1: Ahh!

KAYA: Get (9)_____!

[Kaya draws her sword and faces the demon.]

ASHITAKA: Kaya!

[Ashitaka notches another arrow to his bow, takes aim, and fires it right into the demon's left eye. The Demon squeals in pain.]

ASHITAKA: (10)_____!

Kaya: Come on! Hurry!
