7/11/2025 3:54 PM CST. Nearly 4 hours after the release of Brickadia on Steam (Game released 7/11/2025 at 11 AM CST). Port (Nicolai Susemihl) rejoins the Official Brickadia Discord server (discord.com/invite/brickadia) and a moderator Elletra and a lead dev Sixmorphugus greet him

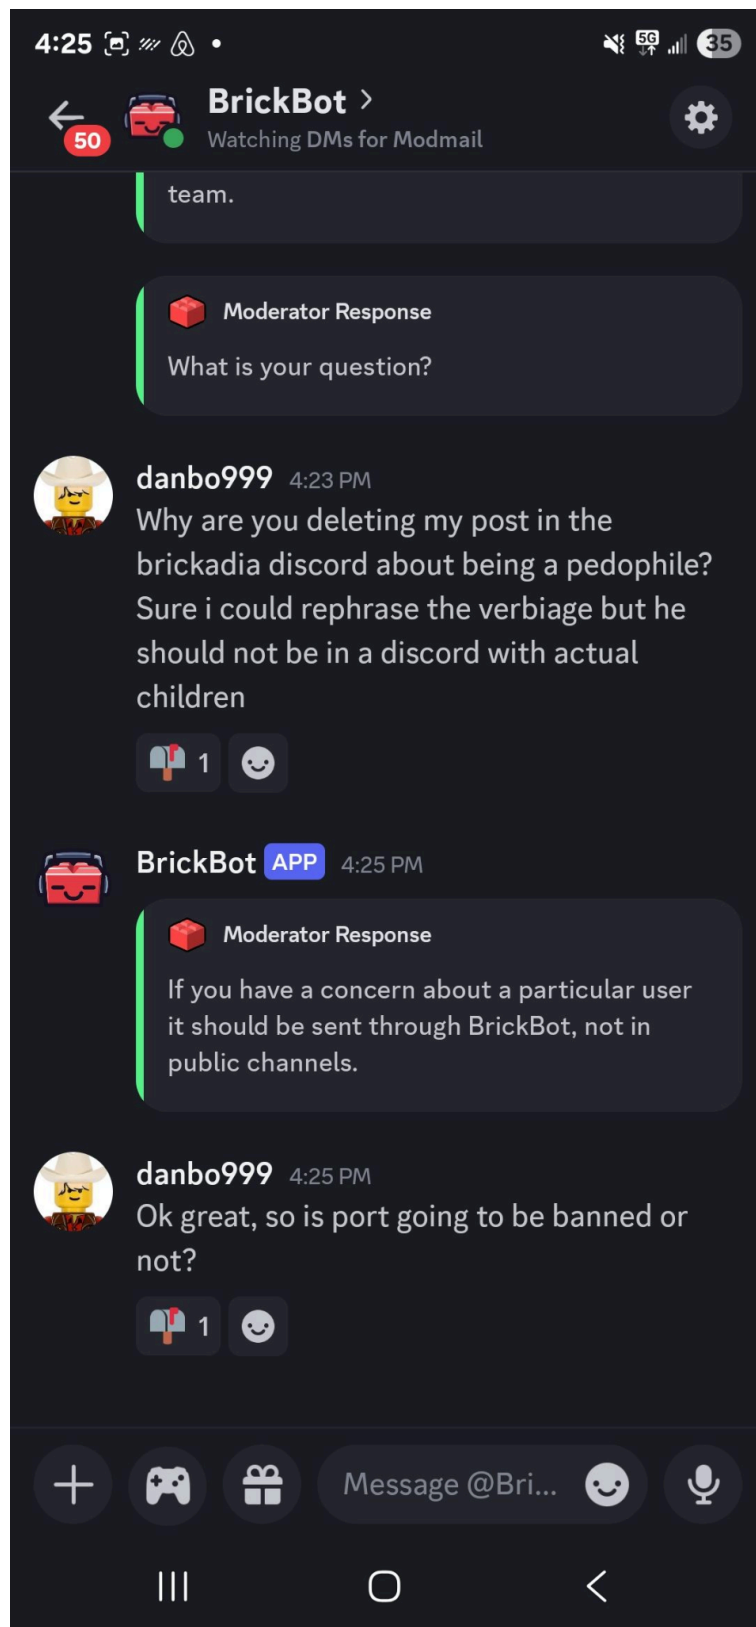

Port talking in the Brickadia discord (The rest of this is not CST unless specified and is scattered among timezones)

At some point Port joined a Brickadia server during early access

Danbo quickly reports the return of Port, but goes unreplied to for about half an hour

EARLY ACCESS REVIEW

UPDATE: In response to the developer's response to this review:

The possibility of your team not knowing about Port's involvement with Evar's NSFW art accounts (oomro) is little to none. There is documented evidence of Evar directly stating that Port was involved in this process, both as a motivator and a contributor (which is actually the direct evidence you are referencing here - posts made on the @oomroart X account during November 2020). The time frame of his ban (12/2/2020) and the opening of these accounts, and the promotion of them (during November 2020), does not give a proper "grace period" to clear Port of any suspected wrongdoing; critical thought alone will lead you to this conclusion, especially since Evar is very talented when it comes to incriminating his husband (then-fiancee, Port) through admission of guilt or association.

That's Brickadian mind control.

This video is also a great showcase of the topic, when accompanied with my review. This game is like 99% made by pedophiles and they were only thrown out when public backlash got bad enough:

A documentary on the Brickadia development team and their disgusting antics. Like and share, don't let them get away with it. Special thanks to all my friends for their excellent work.

NOTHING will excuse Sixmorphugus (Bearcadia in the screenshot), the head of Brickadia development, as well as Elletra, a server moderator, giving Port a friendly "hello." on the day of release, 3 years after they supposedly fired him, on the same account from 2016 that he used before he was fired.

I watched this happen in real time before my eyes as they covered this up. They let Port, a person who encouraged drawing shotacon on the Blockland Forums, and is engaged to Evar Smith (another Brickadia employee who groomed people, and drew cub) to draw back into their Discord, and greeted him with open arms, until someone made a report, when they deleted ANY evidence that it happened, banned Port again, and cut off or silenced anyone trying to ask questions about it.

I was hyped for this game all throughout it's development, and was fairly certain they really had fired all of the sex offenders on their team with no remorse, up until today. Nothing excuses any of this. They tried to sneak their friend Port back in 3 years after his firing, using the large influx of new players flooding the chat to disguise it, until someone around longer than the newbies caught it, and he was banned, and all the evidence subsequently shoved under the rug like nothing happened. Most people playing the game don't seem to know about any of this, but I know. I saw what happened.

Edit: Moderators response:

"Port was not originally removed for any negative reason, but left because of other obligations. All the messages we were shown as evidence were made many years ago while Port was also underage, so we believe it was simply bad decision-making by a minor.

Edit: Moderators response:

"Port was not originally removed for any negative reason, but left because of other obligations. All the messages we were shown as evidence were made many years ago while Port was also underage, so we believe it was simply bad decision-making by a minor.

However, our general approach to fielding community issues has changed over the years. After some deliberation we decided that their proximity to an actually problematic person was itself too great of a risk to bear, so when Port rejoined, we removed them from the community out of an abundance of caution."

-Elletra, 7/11/2025

7/29/1998 is Port's date of birth according to a Blockland Forums post. He turned 18 on 7/29/2016. Port is currently 26, and set to turn 27 the 29th of this month. His predatory and disturbed posts on the Blockland forum do continue after he turned 18, and his marriage with Evar goes on even longer.

Evar made his NSFW furaffinity "oomro" account in 2020, when he was 22, and as his husband Evar was 24. On the Blockland Forums, People on the forums said Port was turning 16 in 2014. Port made these poor decisions as an adult, not a minor. Not to mention, Port posted his fetish list on the Blockland Forums a long time ago, too. Tell me if you don't think it's weird that the devs are hanging out with a guy with HEBEPHILIA (specific pedo term for preferring 11-14 year olds) lolicon, shotacon, and incest in his public fetish list.

The Brickadia team's excuses are glaringly poor, and the fans just love to bootlick the devs.

Don't give these creepy predator enablers your money, even for an admittedly decent video game. Mind you, a good bit of the community from this comes from ROBLOX, a game advertised to children and teenagers. This community is absolutely unsafe for that sort of demographic with all the dirty laundry being covered up.

I have a ZIP file of evidence relating to all of this. As Steam loves to remove links here, feel free to friend request me and ask for it.

Developer response:

Brickadia [developer] Posted: Jul 15 @ 1:40am

Hello, thank you for your concern. We take these matters very seriously.

Last week a former developer, Port, briefly attempted to re-join our community after having had zero involvement for the past three years. After many sleepless nights to prepare for our release, one of our team members decided to greet them before we had a chance to internally discuss their return.

Because we have since tightened our safeguards, we quickly decided to ban Port due to their close association with Evar, whom we banned in 2020 for sharing sexualized drawings of minors.

Now, we also uncovered direct evidence that Port had actively supported those same drawings, confirming that our permanent ban was the correct action.

When Port voluntarily left the team in 2022, we had no indication of such involvement. The only messages we'd seen were immature comments exchanged by Port while they were a minor. The newly surfaced material changes that assessment completely.

Our policy is straightforward: any support for sexual content involving minors, real or drawn, results in a permanent ban. No exceptions, no second chances.

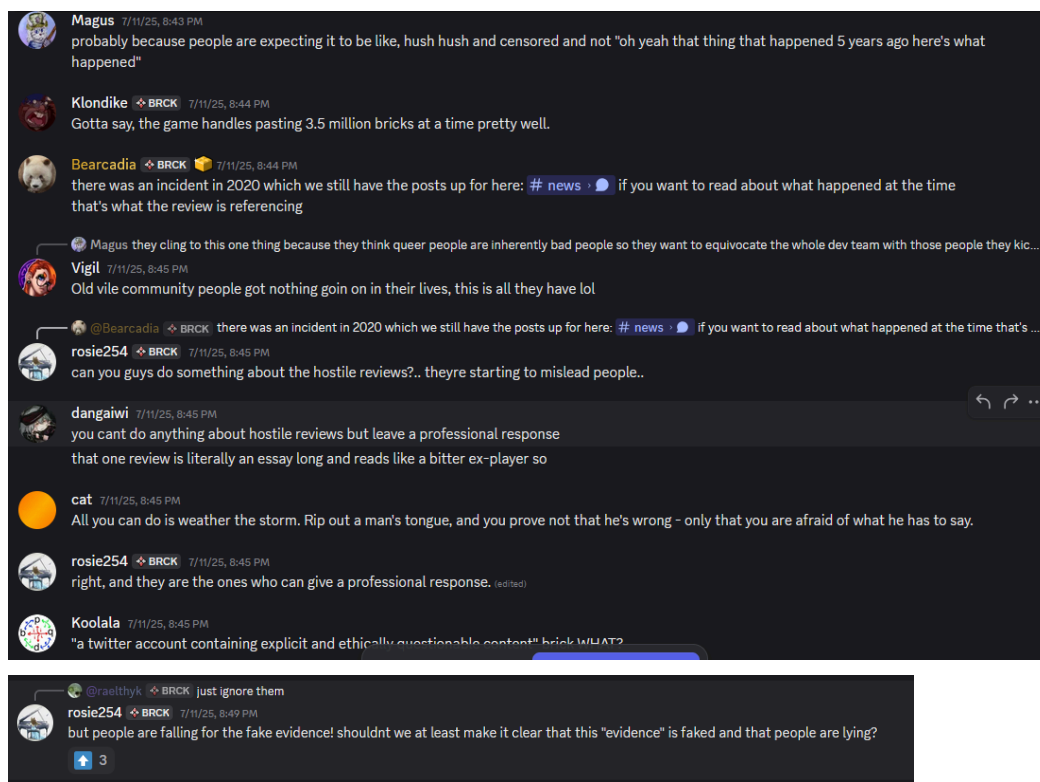

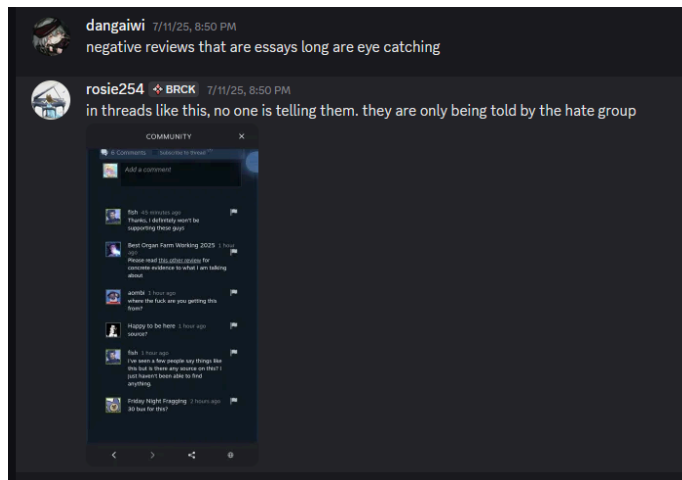

If you ever encounter behavior that threatens the safety of our community, please tell us right away. We rely on your reports. You can reach us privately via email at support@brickadia.com.

Thank you for helping us keep Brickadia a safe place for everyone.

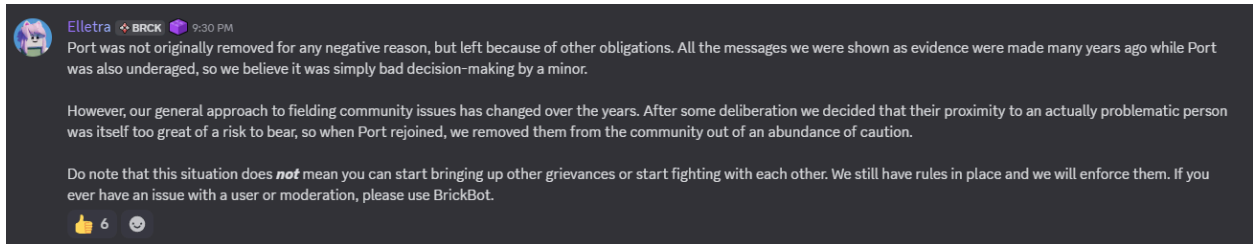

Several hours without moderator response, but reports are made for Valve to delete and report the screenshots Phobos originally uploaded to Steam. The images are later moved to an Imgur album and primarily passed around as a large ZIP file of evidence (no screenshots available once again) Dotmaster, a longtime friend of Sixmorphugus, is instructed to go and ask questions to Sixmorphugus about Port's mysterious re-appearance and coverup. He is immediately unfriended with no response.

A few hours later, around 8:45 PM CST, things begin to rile up in the Brickadia discord. People are talking about the negative reviews

Elletra posts a response for the moderation team at 9:30 PM CST as they struggle to quell the people asking questions about the reviews

July 15, at 3:40 AM CST, a Brickadia developer responded to Phobos' review claiming that they never knew Port was in support of Evar until now

For everything else to make sense, I need to talk about the past.

Why is Port a bad guy?

Port AKA Nick AKA Nicolai Susemihl has described himself as loving shotacon, lolicon, and cub, and is also self-described hebephile (pedophilia term for liking children 11-14). He has asked underage people for nudes on the Blockland forum, or at the very least very suspiciously joked about it a lot.

oHHHH BOOYEEE

In January of 2020, Evar opened new accounts to draw and post cub and shotacon/lolicon on (of which there are archives of his Twitter, but won't share it because it has shotacon all over it). He cited "Nick" as being an influence on this decision. Nick is Port, whose full name is Nicolai Susemihl, son of Norbert Susemihl, a jazz musician.

On November 8, 2020, Zeblote was notified about the Oomroart account. At first glance, this gives the developers at least some plausible deniability for the developer response to maybe be legitimate, but...

how do you know this is actually evars

On 10/25/2018 at 10:59 AM CST, Elletra, a long-time MODERATOR mentioned to Port and Evar about being engaged. They knew they were in a romantic relationship and thus, into similar sexual things and on similar moral compasses LONG BEFORE OomroArt even existed!

On November 18, 2020 Port also encouraged or drew a shotacon calendar for Evar Smith (under the name Oomro here) while they were still engaged.

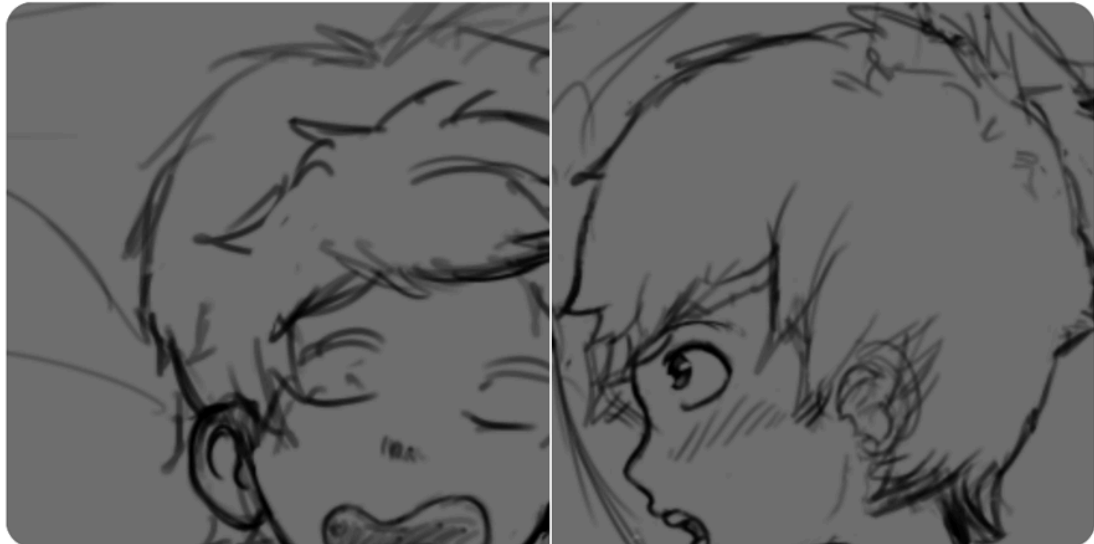

oomro @oomroart · Nov 18

Evar was announced as fired on 12/2/20. Port stayed on the team for 2 years even after Evar was fired, because Port being as valuable as he was as a lead coder, they couldn't afford to lose him.

Zeblote ✨ BRCK 📦 12/2/20, 3:42 PM

This statement was hastily written to address the ongoing situation with more reliable information. We might update it further if anything needs more explanation.

Hey everyone. We're all shocked about this, and it took a bit of time to organize immediate plans for the future of Brickadia. We have learned from last time that this is not something we can afford to stall on or take lightly. This time, our statement is not delayed. We are telling you this today. For the safety of our users, we made an unanimous decision to remove another person from the development team, and to demote one other temporarily pending further investigation.

A document is currently circulating that gives some details on what has happened. Unfortunately, this document is deliberately malicious, and twists the situation to paint unrelated individuals as willfully involved in the activity disclosed - that being that the developer in question ran a twitter account containing explicit and ethically questionable content. We do not condone this kind of behavior in any way and are therefore severing our ties with him. No one else was involved in this activity in any way.

We can't say at the moment how this might affect the release of Alpha 5, which was planned for later this month. However, we want to set a precedent for transparent and timely responses to major events that have the potential to affect the future of Brickadia, and greatly damage the trust our community has in us.

Again, please do not hesitate to contact our moderation team if you ever have any concerns about the safety of yourself or any members of our community.

Aeonara, if you somehow see this, I hope you completely regret everything you've done. You dated me when I was 15, almost 16, and you were 20, almost 21. I didn't know any better, and the entire situation emotionally traumatized me as a result, not to mention all the NSFW interactions we had. You are a predator. Please never talk to me or my underage acquaintances ever again. There is no forgiveness. I don't want to be friends, and I'm not sure if I'll ever be the same again. Goodbye.

Burnice 6/19/25, 12:03 PM

it's worth mentioning unfortunately that teal and his music were removed from the game as he posed a risk to the community

Remanedur is another contributor to Brickadia who has contributed art. Here they are posting furry porn right next to promoting Brickadia concept art

Which is at least somewhat hypocritical to their policies, and just generally unprofessional.

You agree that you will not post, upload, share, store, or otherwise provide through the Services any User Submissions that: (i) infringe any third party's copyrights or other rights (e.g., trademark, privacy rights, etc.); (ii) contain sexually explicit content or pornography; (iii) contain hateful, defamatory, or discriminatory content or incite hatred against any individual or group; (iv) exploit minors; (v) depict unlawful acts or extreme violence; (vi) depict animal cruelty or extreme violence towards animals; (vii) promote fraudulent schemes, multi-level marketing (MLM) schemes, get rich quick schemes, online gaming and gambling, cash gifting, work from home businesses, or any other dubious money-making ventures; or (viii) that violate any law.

And we all know the fact that their fans are unbearable, asking ANY questions about the community or the game's problems is silenced, and they hardly ever listen to their testers (Me and my friends have found bugs that were reported by others for years still broken in the early access release)

The collective tell of the brickadia dev team when they have a problem they want to sweep under the rug is "they left for personal reasons" They did this with Aeonara and Port Silencing, deletion, cutting off, telling people to not discuss it Taking multiple hours or days to then come out with a statement basically saying "Oh it was nothing, people overblew this"

If it's really just nothing, why does it take so long to say anything about it? Why do you silence and cut off people asking questions about what you say is "nothing"? Why do you only respond once the problem grows big enough?

The ultimate takeaway here is that the Brickadia developers and moderators HAVE and ABSOLUTELY would keep any developer around for however long as needed even if they were a threat to children in their community.

The only way for them to have to remove a predatory developer is for enough people to overpower their discussion channels to the point they can't just quietly silence it.
