

Sounds about right

A man, his wife, children have been sitting upstairs in their Somerset home, totally cut off from the outside world, with the downstairs flooded for the last five weeks.

Today the Red Cross pulled up outside in a boat.

"Thank God!" the man shouted "Have you come to save us?"

"No," They replied "We're collecting donations for Syria."