INTRODUCTION

The introduction covers the background of a problem as well as the urgency and rationale for the activity (research or community service). The objectives of the activity and the plan for solving the problem are presented in this section. A relevant literature review and the development of hypotheses are included in this section. [Arial, 12, normal] single-spaced.

RESEARCH METHODS

The research methods section describes the approach, activity design, scope or subject, main materials and tools, location, data collection techniques, operational definitions of research variables, and analysis techniques. [Arial, 12, normal], single-spaced.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

This section presents the research results. The results may be accompanied by tables, graphs (figures), and/or charts. The discussion section presents the results of data analysis, interprets the findings logically, and relates them to relevant references. [Arial, 12, normal], single-spaced. Image format: png/jpg.

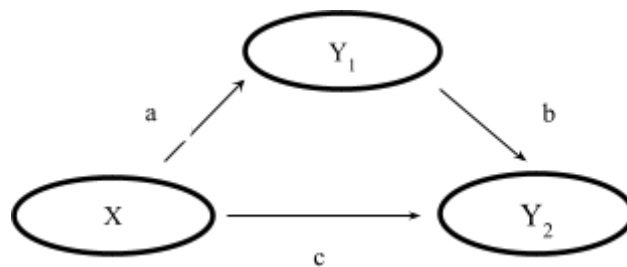

Tables, graphs, and figures must be presented clearly. The titles of tables, graphs, and figures should be written above them. Colored figures are only acceptable if the information in the manuscript would be lost without them. Graphs should preferably be in black and white, and different line styles should be used to distinguish one graph from another. All tables, graphs, and figures must cite their sources.
