

THE HOMEMAKING NETWORK DESCRIPTION

The Homemaking Network has tons of shows and movies all about home improvement, relationship advice, and more food and life related topics while still being entertaining. The Homemaking Network constantly asks “are you still watching?” Because they can’t believe you spent two hours watching a documentary all about dinosaur meat. It was created by Bubble and Hard Kandy after they were tired of all the old and boring non food and love related shows. So they created a network just to produce really low budget and shitty shows! It’s hot pink design really just shows off how low budget this network is.

How To Spice Up Your Cookin’ and Your Lovin’

Oh hello there it’s me your mentor / teacher Bubble and today I’ll be discussing how to spice up your cookin’ and your lovin’. I, as a beautiful Mexican woman, have never run into either problem but I’ll still help you all.

Now somethings can be applied for both cooking and love making. First let’s talk about doing things outside, pick some berries and some wild herbs but after that you can go behind a tree or in a bush for all I care and let your freak flag fly. Hump’s sucking and maybe in a little fucking in a forest is truly a riveting thing. Something about doing it in the public really gives it a new kick and it’ll surely give your relationship the kick it needs again.

AD BREAK

I’ll be doing my chicken breast recipe for you all while I talk about this next segment. So follow along with me. For this segment we are going to talk about love. What is love? We all have different definitions of it so why is it so complicated? It’s because we don’t open up! We need to truly love everything about ourselves before we can let someone else in and let them love us and we loving them. You out there need to work on yourself before you go back go in the dating scene. Ask yourself why I’m doing thins? What I’m looking for? And I’m ready? Once you can answer all those questions you are ready to start loving again.

AD BREAK

For this final segment we are going to talk about baking! Now you can bake just for yourself, for your partners, or even say fuck it can bake for money. Now while you're baking you have to remember to always bake with a purpose. Don't be a floozy and bake for no reason. Bake because you want to bake because you have to. Now replace bake with bone. Now see what I got. Just be kind to yourself and others and remember consent is the key to life. While it was nice having y'all here see you next time!
