Keep a personal reading log	Use an app (like Biblionasium) or a piece of paper or a journal

Every reader has different strengths, interests, and abilities, so there isn't one "magic" number to help you know how many books to read this summer. Think about yourself as a reader and what you have planned this summer, set a goal that you think is both challenging and reachable, and then go for it!! Since most of us have more free time in the summer, it is a great time to build and exercise positive reading habits!

Happy Reading 😊
